CHAUFFEUR TELLS OF HONEYMOONING WITH THOMASSONS

Conrad E. Friderich Says They Talked Only of Money; Bridegroom Kept Wanting to Go Home.

LICENSE OBTAINED AT WATERLOO, ILL.

But He Did Not Know He Was Wed Until They Got to Chicago Which He Mistook for St. Louis.

The story of the marriage and honeymoon of Hugh W. Thomasson, 30-year-old St. Louis capitalist, as told by Conrad E. Friderich, so-called chauffeur" of the 27-year-old bride, is contained in a deposition by Friderich filed at Clayton today as evidence to support Thomasson's suit to annul the marriage on the grounds that he was "hoodwinked."

Mrs. Thomasson, known to Friderich variously as Jane Borg, Jean McKay and Carolyn Mayhoad, once lived in Indianapolis with Stephen C. Rogers, attorney for Thomasson, who lives alone at the Fairmont Hotel where Mrs. Thomasson, as Carolyn Mayhoad, made his acquaintance 10 days before their marriage.

Friderich, who quarreled with Mrs. Thomasson, volunteered his deposition which was taken recently in Indianapolis by Stephen C. Rogers, attorney for Thomasson, who lives alone at the Fairmont Hotel where Mrs. Thomasson, as Carolyn Mayhoad, made his acquaintance 10 days before their marriage.

Friderich said he drove the pair to Waterloo, Ill., one evening last July and waited in a hotel while they went for a walk. Two hours later he said, Mrs. Thomasson asked him to get her a drink of water and he said, "Well, you wouldn't believe it, would you?"

"How did you do it?" I asked her, and she said, "Oh, he didn't know what he was doing."

Following the marriage, Friderich said Mrs. Thomasson visited him frequently, proposing plans for getting the old man's money and asking his advice.

Finally she decided to take Thomasson to Chicago and watched for him at Grand boulevard and Olive street where he usually break- fasted after a walk from his hotel. One morning, Friderich said, Thomasson saw her drive up and get away.

Hoisted Him in Auto.

One morning early in August, he went on, Mrs. Thomasson caught her husband, "took him by the back of the neck and hoisted him in the automobile," and with Friderich at the wheel, started for Chicago.

According to Friderich, Thomasson thought the ride was rather slow and he frequently asked Friderich to go faster. Entering Chicago, he thought he was in St. Louis, said Friderich, and suggested they drive to Broadway and Washington avenue so he could get some money from the bank.

Instead, they went to the Rogers Park Hotel where Thomasson registered, protesting that he wanted to go home. Friderich described 10 days in Chicago during which Mrs. Thomasson persuaded her husband to sign checks for as much as $50,000, watching him constantly, buying him clothes and never leaving him alone.

Only Talked of Money.

"What did they talk about?" Friderich was asked. "Money, money, sheels, bucks! That's all she ever talked about," was his reply.

Friderich related that she consulted a lawyer and got former for a power of attorney and a separation agreement. To get Thomasson's signature, he said, they drove into Wisconsin.

First she tried the power of attorney but he wouldn't sign it. Friderich related, "Then she got out the separation agreement which gave her $1000 a month, a house and an automobile. He wouldn't sign it either and she threatened to take him into the woods and set for a week if he didn't sign it."

"Finally we drove over to the side of the lake. I got out and sat on the beach for a couple of hours. Then she blew the horn and I went back to the car. He had signed the agreement."

After a few more days in Chicago, Friderich said, they drove back to St. Louis and registered at the Branscome Apartment Hotel. The same evening, he said, Mrs. Thomasson summoned a real estate dealer and they went to Clayton where she selected the $25,000 home at 56 Broadview drive where she now lives.

Sat On By His Bride.

"The next morning I woke up at 8 o'clock and heard a noise in their room," Friderich continued. "I went in the floor and she was sitting on him, telling him she wouldn't let him leave until he made the first $1000 payment on her allowance."

Then she took him back to the Fairmont where he paid her and gave her some papers and she left him there. I think that's the last she ever saw of him."

Friderich said he was a traveling

ADVOCATE OF "companionate marriage," who was ejected from the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, New York City, after he had interdicted Bishop William T. He obtained a continuance of the case until Dec. 12, saying he had a number of speaking engagements to make between now and that time. MRS. J. A. REARDON DIVORCES Obtains Custody of Three Children and $225 a Month Alimony.

Mrs. Irene J. Reardon obtained a divorce today from James A. Reardon, secretary of the Reardon Co., paint dealers, by Circuit Judge Mulloy at Clayton.

Mrs. Reardon alleged general indignities. Her suit was not contested. Reardon entered an appearance. Mrs. Reardon obtained $225 a month alimony, $125 of it to go toward the support of their three young children, who were placed in her custody.

Testimony was heard Saturday noon after the filing of the petition but the decree was not issued until today, under a ruling by the Circuit Judges that three days must elapse before hearing after the filing of a petition and entry of appearance. Judge Mulloy said the case was heard earlier to accommodate character witnesses who desired to leave the city.

MINER ADMITS KIDNAPING CLEVELAND, O., GIRL, 10

SHEWAN-DOAN, Pa., Dec. 10.—George Weiss, a miner of Port Clinton, Pa., was arrested here today in connection with the kidnaping six months ago of Anna Szakacs, 10 years old, of Cleveland, O. State police say Weiss confessed. Police said the girl had been attending school dressed as a boy. The child's parents in Cleveland were notified and will come here to identify her. Weiss is alleged to have kept the child in a rented room in Port Clinton. He was alone on a trip here when arrested.

DAVID M. PARRY DIVORCED

Mrs. Dana Ritchie Parry of the Parkway Hotel obtained a divorce today from David M. Parry, formerly an automobile salesman. Mrs. Parry testified that her husband was now in Indianapolis, his former home.

Her petition, in which she alleged general indignities, charged Parry with intoxication, and alleged that he was indifferent to his financial obligations. Electric lights in their home at 7729 Delmar boulevard were turned off one evening while guests were present, because the bill was unpaid. Mrs. Parry stated. She received the custody of two minor children.

It was erroneously stated in the Home edition of the Post-Dispatch that the Archer-Mann Motor Co. for whom Parry formerly worked, was out of business. The company is still in business at 4055 Lindell boulevard.

auditor for an oil company a year ago when he met Mrs. Thomasson in Indianapolis, after he "followed her out of a restaurant." They came to St. Louis last June 16, he said. A man whom she met here told her about Thomasson, he said, and remarked, "The girl who can marry him would be about the smartest woman in St. Louis."

Friderich defined his present feeling toward Mrs. Thomasson as one of "affection tinged with a lot of bitterness." She was not domineering, he said, but was "feminine and cunning."

As has been told, after the Chicago honeymoon Mrs. Thomasson contracted at two downtown stores to purchase jewelry valued at $22,625 and furs valued at $17,000, but her purchases were returned to stock by the stores when it was learned that Thomasson would not pay.

Differences between Mrs. Thomasson and Friderich reached a climax recently when she swore out warrants charging him with common assault and peace disturbance. Her attorney, Martin X. Morris, tried to dismiss the charges today, but Justice of the Peace Stecker continued them, insisting on an affidavit from Mrs. Thomasson.

STATE DISMISSES VAGRANCY CHARGE AGAINST SUSPECTS

Thomas E. Hayes and William Wilbert Had Been Arrested After Barth-Goebel Murders.

The Police Department's attempt to prosecute persons with extensive arrest records, under the State law against vagrancy, collapsed today when Associate Prosecuting Attorney J. R. Vettori dismissed vagrancy charges against Thomas E. Hayes and William Wilbert, who had been arrested in a roundup of gangsters after the machine-gun murders of Lester Barth and Dewey Goebel, two weeks ago.

The men were in Judge Butler's Court of Criminal Correction, with a lawyer, ready to fight the charges, which carry a fine, on conviction, of $20 to $100, a jail term of 30 days to a year, or both.

"I have gone into these cases thoroughly," Vettori told the court. "and it is my opinion that the State has the evidence to sustain a charge."

"Do you know anything about the defendants?" Judge Butler asked.

The police said they were going to introduce long records of arrests, was the reply, "but as you know, under the law we can't go back more than a year."

Can't Go Behind Not Pros.

"That's not what I mean. Are those men refuse to go to court?" was the reply. "I don't know."

"Well, the Court can't go behind a nol pros. The defendants will be dismissed."

Hayes known to his associates as "Tommy," has been picked up numerous times and has served a prison term for mail robbery. Wilbert, or "Willie G.," as the police say he is known, has been arrested 13 times in less than a year, but never has been convicted. Hayes was tried for the murder of Mike Longo and James Russo, Italian gangsters shot down in an ambush in Weston two years ago, but was acquitted despite the testimony of numerous times and has served a prison term for mail robbery. SCHOOL BOARD TO BUY SITE FOR PORTABLE BUILDINGS

$21,500 to Be Paid for Ground North of Cleveland High to Relieve Congestion.

The Board of Education last night voted to buy, for $21,500, a piece of ground fronting on Louisiana, Virginia and Bingham avenues, immediately north of Cleveland High School, as a site for portable buildings to house at least eight academic class rooms, to relieve congestion at Cleveland. The board hopes that determination of its finances early next year will show a balance sufficient for the contemplated new southwestern high school.

A Legislation Committee, to watch matters affecting schools in the next Legislature was appointed by Barth, comprising Murphy, Ben Weldle and Henry P. Schroeder, with executive officers as ex-officio members.

It was decided to buy new $2000 automobiles for the instruction and building after a protracted, the board objecting to Vice President Hollins' proposal that the superintendent should have a $4500 car for "state occasions." Another suggestion by Rollins was for amendment of the rule on the part of the superintendent to announce to the schools the names of suitable moving pictures for the pupils to see at theaters.

Lawful occupation" will be applied for today against Leo Cafferatta, who was arrested yesterday in a store at 518 1/2 North Grand boulevard, after police had laid the ground for prosecution as the custodian of a bet.

In the event no warrant is issued, police announced they would prosecute Cafferatta in police court on a vagrancy charge. He was arrested after a probationary patrolman in civilian clothes made a bet, using marked money.

Police Judge Stein has declined to uphold the city ordinance against vagrancy in cases where warrants are refused on the ground that it is "a travesty on justice" to convict a defendant when the conviction cannot be upheld on appeal. In the cases of bookmakers, Judge Stein pointed out that betting is a severe crime under the State law and advised prosecuting officials to proceed against bookmakers under that statute.

"Silk-Hat Harry" Guyott, a former convict who was prosecuted under the vagrancy law, but acquitted last week, was arrested for the 26th time last night by police investigating a reported burglary. Surrounding a restaurant at 2830 Locust street, they discovered a window broken and in the basement of the building found Guyott, who said:

"Gentlemen, I am only doing what any one of you would do. I was walking along the street when two Negroes took over me. I dived in that window and hid here for protection."

It was after the arrest of Hayes and Wilbert that Prosecuting Attorney Schweitzer announced he would invoke the State vagrancy law against known police characters and Chief of Police Gerk declared a "war on the underworld parasites." So far two men have been fined $500 apiece by default in vagrancy charges.

Visits to Resorts Not Proved.

Later Vettori explained the insufficient evidence against Hayes and Wilbert consisted in the failure of police to prove the men frequented places of ill-fame, a requisite under the statute. "All the police could prove was that they arrested these men in a saloon that had been raided once when liquor was found there," Vettori said. "This is a very hard law to convict under. It apparently was not designed for the purpose to which it is now being adapted."

Prosecuting Attorney Schweitzer said: "The only thing we can do is to go on the evidence the police bring us. If they don't bring us the evidence we can't prosecute."

Schweitzer ordered issuance of the warrants when Hayes and Wilbert were arrested and then turned the vagrancy cases over to Vettori, who looked up the law and declined to issue in subsequent applications.

$100,000 LOOT TAKEN FROM ACTOR-BURGLAR

Posed in Los Angeles as Importer, in Disposing of Stolen Goods.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 10.—Hazel Rosen Sanders, 30 years old, described by police as alternately movie actor, importer and burglar, was charged today with having stolen hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of furnishings from Los Angeles, Hollywood and Beverly Hills homes.

Police in recovering more than $100,000 in loot stolen during two years of operations, connected Sanders, alias Al White, with the burglaries through fingerprints on window ledges of residences of wealthy persons.

With Sanders in jail was an alleged accomplice, Peter Ryan, alias Paul Hackley, 38, also charged with burglary. Sanders and his aid, were said to have looted many homes, hauling away to a cache valuable rugs, radios, silverware and jewelry.

In the role of importer, police said, Sanders sold Oriental rugs to persons of prominence, including motion picture stars, after stealing them in daring daylight robberies. The suspected actor-burglar and his accomplice also are said to have played the role of electric refrigerator service men, and milk delivery men for the purpose of reconnoitering before robberies.

Authorities asserted Sanders and his confederate would drive a truck or moving van to the home of some wealthy person whom they knew to be absent and would drive away boldly with valuable articles, giving the impression they were acting with the knowledge and consent of the owner.

Police said they found a chamois bag containing $20,000 in loose diamonds strapped to Sanders' knee. A pistol was found in his pocket, they said.

ISLAND FOR BOMBING PRACTICE

Site in Missouri River Sought by National Guard Flyers.

Aerial photographs of a Missouri River Island below St. Charles have been taken by the Thirty-fifth Division Air Service to be forwarded to the War Department and Missouri authorities with the request that the island be designated as the flying organization's official bombing and machine gun range.

Tentatively selected by Maj. Philip R. Love, commanding officer, because it is uninhabited and of no value for farming, the island will be the scene of weekly practice by bombers and machine gunners of the squadron provided its use is authorized.

Weds Fifth Naval Officer; Four From Same Class

Former Golda Monroe, Now Wife of Commander C. C. Gill, Resided for Some Time in St. Louis.

Commander Charles C. Gill is the fourth member of the 1907 class of the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis to become the husband of the former Miss Golda Monroe, daughter of James M. Monroe, Annapolis attorney.

Commander Gill and the former Miss Monroe, who applied for the license as Mrs. Warren H. Nixon, were married Monday at Elizabethtown, N. Y. It was her fifth marriage. Her third husband was Commander Warren H. Nixon, Naval Reserve, vice president of the Western Tie & Timber Co. of St. Louis. They resided at the St. Regis Apartments here until his death in 1923.

St. Louis acquaintances recalled today that Mrs. Gill's parents kept open house at Annapolis. It was a custom, they related, for midshipmen at the academy to gather at the large Monroe residence of a Sunday afternoon and chat with the three Monroe girls.

Mrs. Gill's two sisters married naval officers they had met at these gatherings. Mrs. Gill's first husband, and her third, fourth and fifth were members of the class of 1907. Her second was a member of the class of 1909.

Three of them were Command-

Only immediate friends witnessed the ceremony, but outside the church 10,000 persons waited to catch a glimpse of the bride and bridegroom. Several Air Force officers were present and formed an arch of honor at the doorway under which the couple passed as they left the church.

The bride was attired in white and silver, with a long tulle veil. She was attended by four bridesmaids. Her husband wore his Air Force uniform and was accompanied by his friend and companion of his trans-Pacific flight, C. T. P. Uim.

testified to taking in Maj. Shepard's second-hand automobile on the sale of a $1500 coupe delivered to him Brandon Nov. 23, 1929, at Shepard's orders. Young said the major made monthly payments on the car.

Medical experts, civil and military, testified earlier that Mrs. Shepard died of poison at Fort Riley, Kan., June 15, 1929.

The experts who testified yesterday were Col. Edward B. Vedder of the Army Medical Corps laboratory in Washington and Dr. C. M. Muehlberger, assistant director of the crime laboratory at Northwestern University, Chicago.

Sergeant Winslow A. Rose, pharmacist at Fort Riley, told of compounding several prescriptions for Maj. Shepard, one of which, prepared April 8, 1929, he characterized as "unusual." It was the dissolving of eight grains of poison in alcohol.

NAVAL RESERVE HANGAR BID IS $13,000 ABOVE ESTIMATE

Government Likely to Be Asked to Pay Difference, City to Meet the Rest.

Low bids for construction of a hangar at Lambert-St. Louis Field for the Naval Reserve air unit, received yesterday, exceed the city's estimate of $45,000 by approximately $13,000.

The low bid for the general contracting work was $40,639, submitted by C. H. Schroeder. Accompanying bids for heating, plumbing and electrical installation bring the total to $45,939. The Municipal Airport Commission recently voted to limit the expenditure for the hangar, to be paid for from bond issue funds, to $45,000. The bids will be referred to the Board of Public Service, and it is expected that the suggestion will be made that the Government pay the difference.

4-STORY COFFEE PLANT BURNS; $35,000 LOSS

Cause of Flames on Top Floor at 407-11 North First St. Not Learned.

Fire last night at the St. Louis Coffee & Spice Mills, a four-story building at 407-11 North First street, caused $35,000 damage and for a time threatened adjoining buildings.

The blaze was discovered at 11 o'clock by Miller Hageman, an advertising agent, who was working in his office at 115 Locust street. Hageman sent in a still alarm, and the first firemen on the scene sent in three additional alarms, calling out 27 pieces of apparatus, including a water tower.

Flames gained headway on the fourth floor of the building before the main body of firemen arrived. Windows, broken by heat, released flames and a dense smoke. A part of the roof collapsed, showering adjoining roofs with sparks. Streams from 20 pumps were thrown into the building from the roofs of adjoining buildings and from the water tower. The fire was under control within an hour, but firemen continued to pour water into the building for several hours.

A crowd of several hundred persons watched the fire. Charles J. Bauer, vice president of the company, was summoned from his home and, with Fire Chief Alt, estimated the damage. Water damage estimated at $1000 was caused by the Owen Paper Box Co. and the Davis Products Co., occupying adjoining buildings. The cause of the fire, which apparently started on the fourth floor, was not learned.

Contributions Coming in For Post-Dispatch Festival

Former Christmas Party Guest Sends in 'First Payment for Favor' — Elderly, Plainly Dressed Man Gives $5.

AMONG the thousands of beneficiaries of the thirty-first annual Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival will be the city's crippled children. Shut-ins most of the time; not privileged to enjoy life as most boys and girls do, on Christmas morning, in the Coliseum, they will see an entertainment and share in the distribution of presents on a par with every other child present.

Special arrangements will be made to call for them in automobiles, to place them in seats of honor and to return them to their homes after the Festival. Miss Flora Shapiro, representing the Jewish Community Center on the Christmas Festival Executive Committee, is chairman of the Committee on Crippled Children.

Cheering the crippled children will be but one of a number of aspects of this annual act of hospitality. Five thousand well-filled Christmas baskets will be distributed to the city's neediest families. There will be the celebration for the 10,000 children and the distribution of pipes and tobacco for homeless men.

Contributions to make all of this possible are coming in, now that the lists are being circulated. As is its practice, the Post-Dispatch gave $500 to start the fund. This is in addition to its payment of the expense of administration.

Repaying an Old Favor. One of the first contributions sent in by mail was that of an anonymous donor, who wrote, "One dollar for the Christmas fund. On the time payment plan, I will try to have some more for you later. I am trying to repay a favor of years ago done by the Christmas fund."

Such a message is gratifying to those who have worked on the Festival year after year. It shows the extent to which kindly hospitality can do good. Another early contributor was Ethel A. H. Shepley, president of the Community Fund. In making his donation, he said he wished the Christmas Festival "every success."

Contributions come in with lists. Some are sent by mail by people who have read of the Festival's work. Others bring their money

HOW TO CONTRIBUTE TO THE POST-DISPATCH FUND; NO SOLICITORS EMPLOYED

SOLICITORS are not employed for the Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival Fund. The young women who are to distribute the lists have been instructed not to take donations. Contributions may be mailed to the cashier of the Post-Dispatch, or, if it is preferred, an authorized representative of the fund will call at the contributor's request. For a representative, phone CHestnut 1172. Every penny contributed goes to the purchase of food for the baskets and provision of the treat and entertainment for the children in the Coliseum. The Post-Dispatch pays the cost of administration and the Festival Committee members gladly give their time to make sure that boys and girls of the less fortunate families may know the joy of Christmas.

to the cashier of the Post-Dispatch. Today an elderly man in worn clothing came to the cashier's window as do many of the applicants for baskets. Instead of saying he wanted a basket, he said he wanted to give "something" to the Christmas Festival. With a wrinkled hand he pushed a bill under the window grating. It was $5. First List to Arrive.

The first business house to return its list was the Stillwell Photo Co., 105A North Eighth street. Owing to organization details, the first lists on the opening day of distribution were not circulated until 10 o'clock. Before noon $3.40, representing 10 employees of the Stillwell Co. was in the hands of the Post-Dispatch cashier.

The second list was that of Hauser, Miller & Co., 113-15 North Eleventh street. Five persons at that firm contributed a total of $5. Contributions are not coming from St. Louis alone. Mrs. M. Hamblen of Shelbyville, Ill., touched by the appeal of the city's destitute, mailed $1. Twenty-five thousand dollars are needed.

Suspect in Fire Kills Self. By the Associated Press. DODGE CITY, Kan., Dec. 10.—Shortly after she was questioned by G. A. Swallow, Deputy State Fire Marshal, regarding a fire in her home, Mrs. Emma Abbott, 54 years old, was found dead there yesterday with four bullets in her body. Mrs. Abbott visited the house Oct. 10, vacant at that time, a few hours before the fire.

Quick Relief for Common Coughs, Mixed at Home

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up severe coughs due to cold. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs little, but it gives real relief in a hurry.

From any drugist, get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Then you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe and heal the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germs in the phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of incipient bronchial coughs and other severe coughs due to colds. Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

3 ROBBERS SHOOT WOMAN IN STORE NEAR GRANITE CITY

Mrs. Agnes Schlesinger in Serious Condition at St.
Louis Hospital After Resisting Holdup.

THEY FLEE WITHOUT OBTAINING MONEY

Thieves First Steal Auto on This Side of River—Later Seize Another Car at Wood River.

Shot by robbers in a holdup last night, Mrs. Agnes Schlesinger, 53 years old, who operates a general store near Granite City with her husband, is at St. Louis Baptist Hospital in serious condition with bullet wounds in the chest, abdomen and left shoulder.

Four shots were fired by one of three robbers when Mrs. Schlesinger ignored a command to raise her hands and reached for a revolver under the counter. Three of the bullets struck her.

The robbers fled without loot in an automobile they had stolen in a previous holdup in St. Louis and abandoned the car after another holdup in Wood River.

Three Draw Revolvers.
Mrs. Schlesinger and her husband, Frank, 45, were in their store on the Edwardsville road, four miles east of Granite City, when the robbers entered at 8 o'clock. One man asked for chewing tobacco and Schlesinger was serving him when the three drew revolvers.

Schlesinger raised his hands,
then dropped to the floor behind the counter. Mrs. Schlesinger was reaching toward a revolver on a shelf under the counter when four shots were fired in close succesion.

Schlesinger took his wife to a Granite City physician who advised the husband to take her to St. Louis. She arrived at the St.
Louis hospital at 9 o'clock in an unconscious condition.

In Two Holdups.
The car used by the robbers was the property of Morris Levi, 2605 Chouteau avenue, held up by two men who pushed in beside him when he stepped for an automatic signal at Ninth and O'Fallon streets at 7 o'clock.

Taken to a vacant lot at Fourteenth and Angelica streets, Levi was gagged with a handkerchief, bound with rope and robbed of $11.10 in cash and a $50 diamond ring.

After the shooting, the robbers drove to Wood River where they held up S. L. Owen of Alton, taking his automobile and a small amount of cash. Owen was tied up and left in Levi's automobile.
Owen's car has not been recovered.

CHICAGO BROKER'S CLERK HELD IN POISONOUS DART EXTORTION Accused of Plot to Get $25,000 from Daughter of Steel Company Executive.

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—Details of an alleged extortion plot against Miss Marian Wright, 18 years old, were disclosed today following the arrest of William Kuhn, a broker's clerk, accused of sending threatening letters. He denied authorship.
One of them, police said, mentioned "poisonous darts which would be dispatched noiselessly 3000 feet."
"How would you like to meet such a fate?" police quoted from one of the letters after they had booked Kuhn last night on a charge of attempting to extort $25,000 from Miss Wright under threat of death to her or her father, an executive of the Edgewater Steel Co.
Kuhn's brother, Wendell, a broker, characterized the matter as a "mistake" and posted bonds for the accused man's appearance in Felony Court.

Kuhn was arrested by detectives co-operating with agents of the "Secret Six" undercover investigating committee of the Association of Commerce. Five letters, written on a typewriter, formed the basis for the arrest. Detectives said an inspection of the office where Kuhn is employed disclosed one typewriter corresponding with type of the threatening letters.

According to Miss Wright, who has appeared in Junior League dramatic and who is to make her debut Saturday, she and Kuhn were friendly until recently, when they quarreled. At that time, she said, Kuhn remarked he would "get even."

ROBBERS SLUG AGED WOMAN
Take $400 From Farm Couple Near Leasburg, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Schutte, elderly residents of a farm near Leasburg, Ill., were held up and robbed at their home Monday evening of $400, by two armed men, one of whom slugged Mrs. Schutte when she resisted the robbery.
Schutte, who is 70 years old, and his wife, 65, were bound hand and foot with bedclothing by the invaders, and according to Mrs.
Schutte, were chloroformed, remaining unconscious for several hours.

EX-CONVICT FREED IN SWEENEY TIRE CO. HOLDUP MURDER

Harry Johnson Found Not
'Guilty of Participation in Killing of Proprietor's Son Last March.

Harry Johnson, former convict accused of having participated in the holdup of the Sweeney Tire Co., 1501 North Grand boulevard, when Clarence Sweeney, son of the owner, was killed last March, was acquitted of murder by a jury in Circuit Judge Green's court today. The jurors deliberated 90 minutes.

Assistant Circuit Attorney Hennings, in charge of the prosecution, had asked the death penalty, although the State did not charge that Johnson fired the shots which killed Sweeney.

The jurors, on being discharged, said they had not been convinced of Johnson's guilt because there was no corroborative testimony to the identification of Johnson as one of the robbers.

They took three ballots, they said, standing 3 to 4 for acquittal, 11 to 1 and then unanimously.

One Identification Witness.

Only one witness identified Johnson and the defense introduced testimony calculated to weaken the identification. He was Charles Jamison, 25-year-old Negro tire changer. On the witness stand yesterday Jamison said one of the robbers guarded him, another guarded John L. Sweeney and the third, who he said was Johnson, held a pistol on Clarence Sweeney and took all the money out of the cash register.

As the robbers started away, Jamison said, they found their egress blocked by the elder Sweeney. Johnson, according to the witness, struck Sweeney on the head with a rusty revolver, and, dropping the weapon, struck him again with his fist.

Jamison related that young Sweeney ran to the assistance of his father and grappled with one of the robbers.

"Then I heard two shots," he said, "and Clarence fell to the floor." Jamison explained he had been doubtful in his identification of Johnson "because he wasn't wearing a belt when I saw him in the police shadow box. Several of his buttons were loose and he was wearing a very tight suit. It all made him look fatter than he is."

One Witness for Defense.

The only witness called by the defense was Assistant Circuit Attorney Lennan, who said Jamison told him shortly after Johnson was arrested that the defendant "looked too big and too fat" to be one of the robbers.

Hennings attempted to develop that Jamison left town for a time because of threats, but the testimony was excluded. Johnson did not take the stand for a previous conviction—he was sentenced to 12 years in prison for robbery—would prejudice the jury.

The elder Sweeney was unable to identify Johnson. He said he saw only one of the three robbers clearly.

YOUNG WOMAN SAYS TWO MEN KILLED AUCTIONEER IN HOTEL

Attempt to Darken Blond Tresses Leads to Arrest and Barring of Murder Plot.

By the Associated Press.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Dec. 10.—The effort of a slight young woman to darken her blond tresses led to her arrest here yesterday in connection with the murder of Sam Frank, Memphis, Tenn. jewelry auctioneer.

When Jean Dayle, 21 years old, bought hair dye at a store, a detective took up the trail that ended in a private home. Police said she admitted an effort to rob the 65-year-old salesman and told of having associated with him two weeks, awaiting an opportunity to drug his drinks and escape with his money and the valuable diamond ring and stickpin he wore.

Police asserted her statement added that when that opportunity came, in Frank's hotel room last Saturday morning, she was frustrated by two men who rushed into the room after the drug had been administered, slugged the unconscious man with a beer bottle and escaped with the valuables.

Authorities, questioning her story, continued their search for the loot, none of which was recovered.

WOULD MODERNIZE LAWS ON ESTATES

Probate Judge Holtcamp Drafts Amendment for Submission to Legislature.

Amendments designed to modernize existing Missouri laws on the administration of estates of deceased persons have been drafted by Probate Judge Holtcamp, who, in a quarter of a century on the bench, frequently has expressed his emphatic dissatisfaction with the present statutes. His suggested amendments will be submitted to the Legislature next month.

One law cited by Judge Holtcamp relates to a year's allowance to be made to a widow or widower pending administration of an estate. The statute provides "if the grain, meat or other provisions allowed the widow or widower shall not be on hand at the time of the taking of an inventory, the Court shall make a reasonable appropriation out of the assets of the estate to supply such deficiency."

In the first place, said the Judge, few persons in this age, including farmers, keep a whole year's supply of provisions on hand. However, if a Court followed the section literally, it could make only an order for grain, meat or other provisions, but could not supply the applicant with the means to buy fuel with which to cook the provisions. It has been Judge Holtcamp's practice to include in such orders a money allowance, but he thinks it would be better to have the statute plainly authorize "an allowance for support."

Another section criticised by the Court relates to the power of a guardian to sell property belonging to the estate of a ward of the Probate Court. At present a guardian can obtain such order only when the Court is in session, irrespective of what conditions exist, which would make a sale urgent. The law should be changed, Judge Holtcamp said, so a guardian could have the power to sell by proper order during vacation of court, the same as the administrator of the estate of a deceased person who now has that right.

Incidentally the Judge said appellate courts had construed the laws affecting a public administrator in such manner as to give that official "a rocky road to travel." He made this comment in ruling against Public Administrator Schuler, who claimed priority in the handling of the $1,500,000 estate of Mrs. Fannie Harris, widow of a Dallas, Tex. merchant. The authority of Herbert Frank, a non-lawyer, and the Mercantile-Commerce Bank & Trust Co. was upheld. Judge Holtcamp's proposed amendments do not relate to any change in the public administrator statute.

FORGERY CHARGE DISMISSED

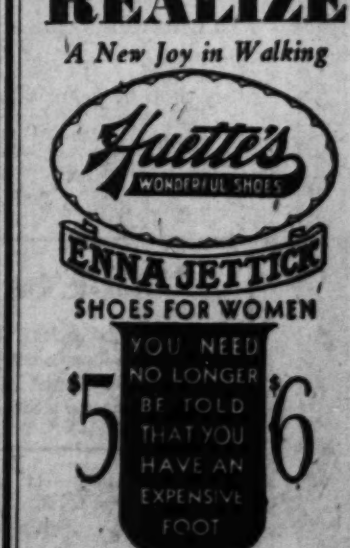

Complaining Witness Refuses to Prosecute Lenzburg, Ill., Man. A charge of forgery against William E. Church, former President of the Village Board of Lenzburg, Ill., was dismissed by Circuit Judge Henry G. Miller at Belleville yesterday when John Morgan, New Athens, Ill., the complaining witness, refused to prosecute.

Church was indicted about a year ago for forging the name of his wife, Mrs. Hedwig N. Church, to a $500 note, representing a loan obtained from Morgan several years ago.

ONE-MAN CARS BLOCK

P. S. CO. AGREEMENT

Union Can't Approve Extension of Short Crew Service, Says Its President.

Harry Nelson, president of the Street Car Men's Union, said today that the Public Service Co.'s announced intention to operate more one-man street cars was blocking negotiations of the union and the company on a proposed co-operative agreement. The union cannot approve the operation of one-man cars, Nelson declared.

"The management states that the one-man car operation is being extended in the interest of more frequent service," Nelson explained, "but our calculations show that the company is saving about $500 a day in wages on the Southampton line alone, which makes it appear that the service is also an economy measure."

According to Nelson, accidents have doubled since one-man cars were put in operation last month. The Southampton line had 23 accidents in a month, and two fatal accidents have occurred on the Broadway line. Various business men's associations have joined the union in protesting against one-man operation on the ground that it endangers the safety of the public.

The proposed co-operative agreement would give the union a closed shop, a check-off of dues by the company, and a share in any profits. In return, the company expects to receive more efficient service and the good will of its union employees. One-man cars, against which the union had previously protested, have been put in service on the Broadway and Southampton lines since the agreement was proposed. The union still desires the agreement, but wants an understanding on one-man cars, Nelson said.

So far no employees have been dismissed as a result of one-man cars, but some have been put on the extra list, according to the union head. One-man cars are also operated on the Kirkwood-Parkway and Creve Coeur lines in St. Louis County.

BANKER DEFENDS HIMSELF

ON EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGE

Last of Defendants in $2,500,000
Looting of Flint, Mich., De-positors on Trial.

By the Associated Press.

FLINT, Mich., Dec. 10.—Choosing not to employ counsel, Grant
J. Brown, former president of the Union Industrial Bank of Flint, handled his own defense in the Circuit Court today at his trial on a charge of embezzling $20,448.

Brown previously was acquitted on another charge of embezzlement. In his opening statement he told the jury he had never taken as much as a "postage stamp" from the bank without paying for it. He asked the jury and jury to be patient with him because "I am not a lawyer and I might accidentally say something improper." A few minutes later he was stopped by the Judge when he said, "Why am I charged with embezzlement? Why wasn't I?"

The former bank president is the last man to face a jury in connection with a $2,500,000 shortage discovered in the bank 15 months ago. Eight men are serving prison terms. After the shortage was discovered Charles S. Mott, General Motors officer, a former president of the bank, resumed active charge and pledged his personal fortune to back up the depositors.

PROMOTERS OF SUMMER RESORT NEAR AIR FIELD ARRESTED

Two Salesmen Accused in St. Clair, Mo., of Making False Promises.

Warrants charging they obtained property under false pretenses have been issued in St. Clair County, Mo., against Lewis Ruth and Ray Sims.
St. Louis stock salesmen, Prosecuting Attorney Myers told the Post-Dispatch over long distance telephone today.

Ruth is being held at Police Headquarters for Sheriff Kinkaid of St. Clair County and Sims is in the county jail at Osceola. Prosecuting Attorney Myers said. The specific charge is that the men traded stock in what Myers called "an entirely promotional scheme"
for a summer resort near Lambert-St. Louis field, to a woman at Appleton City, Mo., taking from her $1500 in stock in the Missouri Public Service Co., a concern which owns 53 light and water companies in rural Missouri.

Myers said they apparently had a list of stockholders in the Missouri Public Service Co.

ACCIDENT VERDICT GIVEN IN AUTOMOBILE KILLING

A Coroner's verdict of accident was returned today in the death at 9 p. m. Monday of Monroe L.
Evans, 59 years old, 3548 Shaw boulevard, struck by an automobile driven by Don A. Ritcher, 7434 Williams place, Richmond Heights.

Witnesses testified that Evans ran in front of the automobile, which was proceeding at moderate speed on Manchester near Mackind avenue. Evans' skull was fractured.

ANGRY MOTHER KILLS SON

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 10.—Accepting a dare in a moment of anger, Mrs. William Donahue, 34 years old, of Medina, near here, shot and killed her son, Thomas, 12, yesterday.

Mrs. Donahue had ordered the boy to bring some wood for a kitchen fire. He had returned.
Then the mother scolded. The boy ran from the house. "Tommy, come back here this instant or I'll use this," screamed the mother, grabbing a .22-caliber rifle, according to the story she told, the authorities. "Go ahead, I dare you!"
retorted the boy as he ran across a garden patch. In anger, the woman fired and struck the boy in the base of the brain. The next instant the mother was hugging the boy in her arms, trying vainly to revive him. He died within an hour.

LAVAL CAN'T FORM MINISTRY

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Dec. 10.—Pierre Laval today informed the President that he had failed in his efforts to form a new Cabinet.

The announcement came after Laval had conferred with former President Poincare and a group of the country's elder statesmen. It was preceded by rumors in chamber circles that he would abandon his attempt in the face of persistent antagonism toward Andre Tardieu.

Gunman Killed, Detective Shot.

By the Associated Press.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Dec. 10.
—One gunman was killed and a detective wounded in a fight last night when George Mulcahey, 39 years old, was killed by Detective Dan Noonan after Mulcahey had shot down Detective Harry Parker.
Mulcahey's companion, Mike
O'Leary, was captured.

Dies as He Answers Bell.
 By the Associated Press.
 CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—A solicitor for charity rang the doorbell at Michael O'Donnell's home yesterday. O'Donnell, 60 years old, struggled from his sick bed to answer the call, leaped over the porch railing to peer at the visitor and fell to his death.

COURT BARS WOMAN
FROM $20,000 ALIMONY

Holds Judgment Void Because Edward Gay Crow Was of Unsound Mind.

A decree handed down by Circuit Judge Percy today enjoins Mrs. Katherine Marchand Humphrey, 4755 Washington boulevard, from attempting to collect an unpaid alimony judgment from her former husband, Edward Gay Crow, who is a patient in Glenwood Sanitarium. She contends the amount due is $20,000.

Crow was represented in the injunction proceedings by Edwards
 W. Terry as guardian. It was alleged the alimony judgment was void because at the time of the divorce 10 years ago, Crow was of unsound mind, a condition not called to the attention of the Court.
 The divorce decree provided for payment of $150 a month, but only one payment was made.

Within several months after she obtained a divorce, Mrs. Crow was married to her present husband.
 However, the fact no one in Crow's behalf took legal steps to notify the Court of his wife's remarriage, kept the alimony judgment in force.
 After the death of his mother, Mrs.
 Sophie M. Crow, in July, 1929, Mrs.
 Humphrey filed suit to revive the judgment, which action is now stopped by the decision of Judge Percy, who held that the decree of divorce was obtained by fraud.

Mrs. Humphrey denied Crow was insane, but asserted he was confined in the sanitarium to be cured of the liquor habit. Mrs. Sophie
 000,000. Her son's share, amounting to $30,000, was left in trust, which, however, would not be exempt from an alimony claim.

Although the Court found the divorce was fraudulently obtained, it is the contention of Alvan J. Goodbar, of counsel for Crow, that the decision only invalidates the alimony judgment, leaving the divorce still in effect. He said it was not desired that the divorce be set aside. Mrs. Humphrey brought out that at the divorce trial Crow was represented by an attorney who had been employed by his mother.

SOLO MUSICIANS TO GIVE CONCERTS IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Plan Adopted at Suggestion of Superintendent to Develop Appreciation Among Pupils.

Development of music appreciation on the part of school children here is to be fostered by sending qualified musicians to give solo concerts on various instruments before groups of pupils.

The Board of Education last night approved a recommendation for this by Superintendent of Instruction Gerling. He plans to hire a limited number of artists on the piano, violin, cello and other instruments. They will visit as many schools as possible, giving recitals before children of appropriate age, and making interpretative explanations of their programs. Gerling reported that this plan would be a step towards removal of the deficiency of instruction in musical appreciation and would give music a more significant place in the curriculum.

His report remarked that the board had engaged the Symphony Orchestra for five concerts a season for pupils for several years.
 That music clubs were fostered in the high and intermediate schools, that orchestra and violin classes had been formed in recent years in grade schools, and that singing instruction had long had a place in all the schools. Nevertheless, the superintendent thinks that these things are not enough to develop the fullest appreciation of music.

TALK OF THE PRESIDENCY
PREMATURE, ROOSEVELT SAYS
"A Lot of Water Must Pass Under the Bridge." He Tells Georgia Club.

By the Associated Press.

GREENVILLE, Ga., Dec. 10.—
On the eve of his return to New York, Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt last night told members of a "Roosevelt-for President" club tendering him a game dinner that "a lot of water must pass under the bridge before any candidate is named and it may be someone whom no one has thought of."
Governor-elect Richard B. Russell of Georgia said "This is the first Roosevelt-for-President club in the nation and Georgia is proud to have Roosevelt as an adopted son."
Judge C. E. Roof of the Cowetta

KELLOGG RECEIVES PEACE PRIZE; SEES NO SIGN OF WAR

Former Secretary of State Expresses Regret, However, That So Many Predict Conflict.

URGES CALMNESS, FAITH IN PEOPLE

Says Western Civilization Could Not Survive Another Conflict Such as the World War.

By the Associated Press. OSLO, Norway, Dec. 10.—Western civilization could not survive another such conflict as the World War, but there is nothing to indicate that such a conflict is in prospect, Frank B. Kellogg, the former United States Secretary of State, declared today in a speech accepting the Nobel peace prize for 1930.

"I regret," he said, "that many voices have been raised in predictions of another war, but I am confident that the world's troubles will be solved by peaceful means. We must keep cool and we must keep our confidence in the people. The main thing is to educate the people of the world to believe that there are better ways of settling disputes than by war. The churches and the schools should throw their educational influence to the support of this great movement."

The prize was presented in the presence of King Haakon and a distinguished audience. Dr. Nathan Soderblom, Archbishop of Upsala, received the peace award for 1930. As for world economic depression, said Kellogg, there appears to be no magic spell by which the parliaments of the world can create immediate relief. The hope and confidence of the people must be maintained, he said, and if the statesmen of the world realize their duty they will find means of restoring order again within a short time.

The award was voted to Kellogg for his activities in connection with the Kellogg-Brand peace pact. Dr. Soderblom has long been active in the cause of world peace and was the principal organizer of the Christian Unity Conference held in Stockholm five years ago.

Four other Americans have won this award—Theodore Roosevelt in 1906, Elihu Root in 1912, Woodrow Wilson in 1919 and Ambassador Charles G. Dawes in 1925.

Another American, Sinclair Lewis, received this year's award in literature for his novel, "Babbalanza." This award was presented in Stockholm.

Praise for Wilson. The achievements of Woodrow Wilson in the cause of peace were recalled by President Masarik in an address praising the work of Kellogg and Dr. Soderblom.

We must not lose sight, he said, that the League of Nations is the most powerful institute for promoting peace which the world has developed. He recalled that the League was created on the initiative of the United States and declared that, while America is not of its members, the nation has not stood apart from the "great international efforts to secure peace."

"It is not enough," he said, "to declare war a crime. We must recognize that the murder of thousands of men to settle an international dispute is no more excusable than the murder of one man."

Archbishop Soderblom said he believed he had received the prize as the representative of the ecumenical movement within the churches. He paid homage to the memory of Alfred Nobel, declaring that the establishment of the brotherhood of man was one of the great aims of the founder of the Nobel awards.

Prize for Literature Presented to Sinclair Lewis. By the Associated Press. STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Dec. 10.—Sinclair Lewis, red-haired first citizen of Sauk Center, Minn., today received from the hands of King Gustaf of Sweden the 1930 Nobel Prize for literature.

The creator of George H. Babbalanza was the center of interest, despite the presence of the distinguished winners of Nobel awards in other fields. His vigorous personality has seized the popular imagination of all Sweden.

Dr. Karl Landsteiner of New York, winner of the award in medicine, was there with Sir Chandrasekhara Venkata Raman of Calcutta, India, winner of the physics award, and Prof. Hans Fischer of Munich, who received the prize in chemistry.

King Gustave, other members of the royal family and a group of distinguished citizens applauded the addresses of presentation and acceptance in the Stockholm concert house.

LINER EMPRESS OF SCOTLAND ON FIRE; OIL TANKS CATCH

Ship Ready to be Dismantled Has Had Run of Bad Luck Ever Since Name Change.

By the Associated Press.
BLYTH, England, Dec. 10.—Fire spreading through the old Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Scotland, docked here for dismantling, reached her fuel tanks late this afternoon and 800 tons of oil went up in a great roaring flame. The ship will probably be a total loss. The blaze was discovered early this morning in the second-class quarters but every fire engine in town could not check its progress. It was thought to have been caused by an electrical short circuit.

Superstitious sailors were not surprised at this latest misfortune to the Empress of Scotland for she is one of those ships which took on the curse of bad luck when they changed her name. She used to be the Kaiserin Auguste Victoria, pride of the Hamburg-American fleet, and she was handed over to England under the Versailles treaty. In 1925 she rammed the freighter Scottsburg off Quarantine, New York, three years later her wireless room was destroyed in a fire at Alexandria, and earlier this year she ran aground in the St. Lawrence River.

SOVIET CONTINUES RADIO PROPAGANDA IN BRITAIN

Little Likelihood of Average Set Picking Up the Program, However.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Dec. 10.—The voice of Moscow was again heard over the air in Great Britain last night despite Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson's recent protest to the Soviet Government against these broadcasts.

The program, which was part of a regular Tuesday night series to the Soviet Union, consisted of an address on economic problems in which references were made to British goods. The trial of eight Russian engineers, which ended in commutation of sentences, also was discussed.

Officers of a large electric supply company used powerful sets to pick up the broadcast and pointed out that the more humble instructions of British workers, to whom the message was specifically addressed, would have little chance of receiving it.

The Soviet broadcasts were brought up in the House of Commons last week with strong conservative protests. Henderson said he saw little chance of the British workman being influenced, but added that the program violated the Soviet agreement not to propagandize in Great Britain.

ARCHDUKE LEOPOLD SALVATOR OF AUSTRIA SERIOUSLY HURT

In Vienna Hospital; Thought to Have Been Injured in Auto Accident.

By the Associated Press.
VIENNA, Dec. 10.—Physicians said today the condition of the Archduke Leopold Salvator, who was taken to a hospital here yesterday mysteriously bruised, had grown steadily worse. It is doubtful that he can survive the injuries, thought to have been caused by an automobile accident.

The Archduke is 67 years old and the father of 10 children, one of whom, the Archduke Leopold, recently was acquitted in New York on charges in connection with the sale of the Maria Theresa diamond necklace. He has resided most of his latter years with his wife, the Princess Blanche of Castille and Bourbon, at Barcelona, Spain.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—Judge Amadeo A. Bertini in General Sessions yesterday dismissed the last indictment against Archduke Leopold of Austria. The indictment charged grand larceny of the Maria Theresa necklace. A jury previously had acquitted him of aiding and abetting in the theft. Leopold said he would return to Austria shortly.

VALENCIA RIOTING RENEWED; POLICE FIRE INTO MOB

One Man Killed and 13 Wounded in Two Days of Disturbance Following Strike.

VALENCIA, Spain, Dec. 10.—Rioting broke out again today as strikers fought with police guarding nonunion bakery workers. One man was wounded when the police fired into the mob.

Fighting yesterday on the first day of the strike cost one life and resulted in injury to 13 persons. Police are continuing arrests of radical labor leaders whom they hold responsible for the strike.

ATTACK ON GERMAN CABINET

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, Dec. 10.—Undaunted by yesterday's defeat, when by a rising vote the Reichstag decided that a debate of foreign policy at this time is not to the country's best interests, Dr. Alfred Hugenberg's Nationalists today introduced a no-confidence motion against Ministers Curtius, Wirth and Brüning.

They will attempt to force a vote before the Reichstag adjournment, which the Government hopes to bring about speedily. No one in Government circles is excited about this attempt of the opposition.

CLEANERS' CODE OF ETHICS AIMED AT EXTORTIONISTS

Nineteen Rules Adopted by National Association Likely to Be Accepted by St. Louis Firms.

FEDERAL BOARD'S APPROVAL SOUGHT

Standard of Work, and Elimination of 'Extra' Charges and Unfair Competition Are Provided.

A code of ethics proposed by the National Association of Dyers and Cleaners as a "housecleaning measure" probably will be adopted by St. Louis cleaning firms after it is approved by the Federal Trade Commission, which now has it under consideration.

The code consists of 19 rules, designed to eliminate extortionists, unfair competition, unfair advertising and "extra" charges to customers. It was approved at a recent meeting at Washington attended by representatives of more than 60 per cent of the dry cleaners in the United States. A. F. Hartman of the Scott Cleaning Co. represented St. Louis cleaners at the meeting.

Fixes Minimum Standard.
The code provides for a minimum dry cleaning standard to remedy "short cut" cleaning methods. Extra charges for certain spots or stains "discovered" after a price has previously been agreed upon are to be eliminated under the code. Agents for cleaning plants will be required to advertise as such, and not to represent themselves as dry cleaners, under the code.

With reference to extortionist activities within the industry section 14 states: "It is considered unduly to incite or aid, directly or indirectly, the organizing of dry cleaning employees for the purpose of controlling the prices of competitors by threats, strikes, boycotts, or any form of coercion." Section 15 deals with similar unfair practices in controlling prices for cleaning charged by tailor and pressing shops acting as agents for cleaning plants.

Below Cost Work Barred.
Cleaning clothing below cost with the object of injuring competitors, and the giving of "free work" under the guise of allowance for lost or damaged goods for the purpose of enticing customers away from competitors, is also prohibited by the code.

It is estimated that the cleaning and dyeing industry in the United States represents an investment of approximately $150,000,000, with an annual volume of business aggregating twice that amount. In St. Louis there are two groups, the Master Cleaners' Association, composed of 19 retail plants, the largest of which is the Lustig & Co., and the St. Louis Cleaners' Exchange, composed of 14 wholesale concerns. Efforts are now being made to unite the two associations.

Discussing the St. Louis situation, Hartman said the industry here, with the exception of a brief period ending early this year, had been comparatively free from extortionist activities.

INCHCAPE CONDEMNNS BRITAIN'S INTERNAL FINANCIAL POLICY

Shipping Magnate Lays Depreciation to Too Lavish a Hand in Payment of Dols.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Dec. 10.—In what amounted to a slashing attack on Britain's internal financial policies, Lord Inchcape, shipping magnate, today declared that he never had known trade to be so bad as in the last few months, and he predicted that the prospects for shipping are far from bright.

He spoke at an annual meeting of the Peninsular & Orient Shipping Co., and attributed the gloomy situation to "too lavish a hand in the payment of dols to the unemployed."

The man who earns a good income by means of his own brain and industry," he said, "is now called upon to contribute 60 per cent of his earnings for income tax and super tax while he is alive, and in many cases death duties absorb half his estate when he dies."

Such taxes he characterized as "raids on the fruits of industry," and declared that a large part of such revenue for the Government constitutes "reckless plunder." The "unemployment relief payments," which approach and sometimes overstep the wage level, are moral and financial sins against the people—truly a rake's progress," he declared.

"We hear," he said, "about 36 or 40 hours' work a week being enough for anybody. In the last 60 years I've worked an average of 60 hours a week, and I'm none the worse for it."

'HEADS WILL ROLL,' FASCISTS SHOUT IN REICHSTAG UPROAR

Disorder Caused by Arrest of Legislator for Disturbance
Over War Movie.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, Dec. 10.—Adolph Hitler's slogan of Leipzig treason trial fame, "heads will roll," reverberated through the Reichstag today, sounded by the Nazis (National Socialists or Fascists).

The incident arose when the National Socialists demanded the session be interrupted for 40 minutes to give the Council of Elders an opportunity to decide whether Hans Fabricius, a member of the Reichstag who was arrested last night during disturbances in connection with the showing of "All Quiet on the Western Front" should be immediately released. The Government parties and the Social Democrats objected, whereupon the Nazis started their shouts.

By a vote of 214 to 187 the motion to convene the council prevailed. The council decided to demand the release of Fabricius. By the time the Reichstag had reconvened, however, Fabricius had already been released so further action was unnecessary.

In police court Fabricius was sentenced to pay a fine of 30 marks (about $7.50) or serve three days in jail for not obeying police orders and another fine of 150 marks (about $37.50) or 10 days in jail for abusing officers.

A police decree, published today, bars all public demonstrations in Berlin after 2 p. m. today and warns all political organizations that any crowds collecting thereafter will be broken up with force and without warning.

BROOKHART SUGGESTS PUBLIC OWNERSHIP OF RAILWAYS

Sensor Declares Esch-Cummins Law Put $7,000,000,000 of Water in Their Stock.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—Senator Brookhart said before the Rivers and Harbors Congress today that if the railroads could not operate to "meet the lower rates of waterways, the Government might show them how to meet the competition by taking them over."

The Iowa followed Samuel O. Dunn, editor of Railway Age, who had maintained the Government was unfairly subsidizing waterways and that the railroads could haul freight more cheaply.

Brookhart said Dunn's statements were inaccurate. The railroads themselves were taking huge amounts as a subsidy from the people, he contended. The Senator added that under the Esch-Cummins law, the railroads were allowed $7,000,000,000 in "watered stock" and that the people had to pay higher rates as a result.

ATTEMPT TO ASSASSINATE DANISH CABINET MINISTER

Reputed Communist Fires From Gallery While Intended Victim Is Addressing Parliament.

By the Associated Press.
COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Dec. 10.—Charles Nielsen, reputed to be a communist, fired a revolver at a minister of Social Affairs Stejneger today while the Minister was addressing the Danish Parliament.

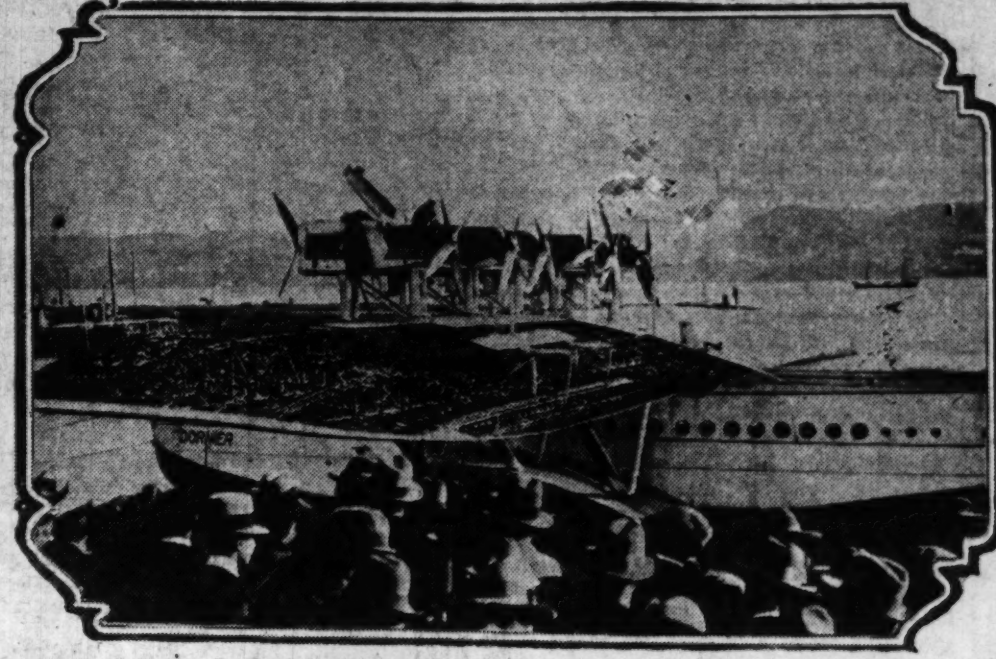

The bullet went wild.
Nielsen was arrested with three other men. It is said the shot was fired from the gallery. The Minister continued his speech after the men arrested had been removed.

URGES MEXICO TO CUT IMPORTS

By the Associated Press.
MEXICO CITY, Dec. 10.—The Mexican Congress had before it today recommendations of President Ortiz Rubio to pass laws restricting imports and encouraging national industry as a means of combatting the world economic crisis.

The President said much of Mexico's depression was caused by foreign businesses which make money in Mexico but spend it in America and elsewhere.

LONE MOUNTAINEER ASCENDS 19,710 FEET

Spaniard Spends Nine Days on Kilimanjaro, Highest Peak in Africa.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Dec. 10.—A dispatch to the London Daily Mail from Dar-es-Salaam, Tanganyika, today said that Kilimanjaro, the highest mountain in Africa, had been ascended for the first time by a lone climber.

The climber is a young Spaniard, Andres Espinosa of Bilbao. Previously never less than two attempted the ascent, but Espinosa started alone, without carriers and guides, but taking an ice-pick and a haversack with tinned food.

He spent nine days wandering in the snow and was obliged to pass three nights in a cave at a height of 18,000 feet before the weather allowed him to reach the summit. He returned to Moshi, a town at the mountain's base, with all the records he could find left there by earlier climbers as proof of his achievement.

Kilimanjaro is 19,710 feet high. It is about 200 miles south of the Equator and 150 miles from the Indian Ocean.

POLISH PARLIAMENT OPENS WITH COMMUNIST UPROAR

Reds Are Ejected; Remain Silent
When Allowed to Return Later to Sessions.

WARSAW, Dec. 10.—Poland's Parliament opened yesterday with an uproar by Communists, who were ejected. The Communists were allowed later to return. They remained silent.

Guards seized the Communists when they cried, "down with the Fascist regime," as Premier Slawek began reading the President's decree that constitutional reform would be the principal task of the assembly.

When the time came to elect a speaker of the Sejm, the radical opposition, instead of marking the name of a candidate on the ballots, inscribed their "prison of Brest-Litovsk," reminding of cruelties allegedly inflicted on opposition deputies in the prison fortress.

Casimir Switalski, the Pilsudski candidate, was elected Sejm speaker. The Senate elected Ladislav.

By the Associated Press.
MOSCOW, Dec. 10.—The claims of the Soviet Government to real achievements in the 13 years of its existence were described in terms of billions of roubles by Michael Kalinin, president of the Central Executive Committee of the Soviet Union, in a recent speech.

Kalinin said that since the revolution in 1917 the sum of 10,800,000,000 roubles had been invested in industry in Russia and 26,400,000,000 roubles in agriculture. (The rouble is supposed to be worth about 50 cents.) Most of this huge total, it was explained, was provided from Government funds, but a portion of the agricultural expenditures was made by the peasants themselves.

Summary of Results.
The results of Communism, Kalinin said, can be summarized as follows: "During the reconstruction period (the last six years) Soviet Russia built 2222 new factories and plants, 320 power stations and 19,663 kilometers of new railways. "The total output of Soviet industry is almost double the pre-war period. During the last six

Nero Made Credible

NERO, THE SINGING EMPEROR OF ROME. By Arthur Weigall. (G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York City.)

AGAINST that lurid tapestry of an incestuous and immoral family background, says the blurbster, "we see Nero strutting across the stage of Imperial Rome, an egotistical exhibitionist, etc." Evidently the author who wrote this had his public lesson by heart and meant to be misleading. Arthur Weigall is not a vulgar opportunist. He is an honest and very capable historian, whose object, purpose in writing this study of a Roman Emperor was to get a little nearer to the truth about the whole matter than do the conventional accounts of Nero's reign. It seems probable that he has succeeded in this. The story is humanly credible at all points, and various doubtful portions of the story, as commonly told, seem to be cleared up. It is generally assumed that Nero was simply a fool in his more lucid moments and a madman the rest of the time. Weigall shows that this could hardly be true, in view of the fact that a considerable portion of his reign was extraordinarily successful. As to his ability as an emperor, Weigall, for what appears to be very good reasons, believes that he was genuinely gifted. As for the ludicrous old story of the mad Emperor's burning of Rome, which is the story of his sinking of the Fall of Troy, Weigall demolishes that quite effectively.

It is not to be assumed that this is merely a sentimental whitewash of the emperor. There are still honest writers in the world. Nothing of the scandalous side of the story is minimized, and at the least calculation there is no reason to believe that Nero's time was a great civilization was dying and thoroughly deserved to be dead; but neither is there any undue emphasis on that aspect of the story. Anyone who is sincerely interested in Roman history will find the book illuminating. Those who may be under the impression that the book is full of morbid nastiness will be disappointed. There are plenty of other books for such people.

VICTORIAN PHILOSOPHY. By Lafcadio Hearn. LECTURES ON PROSE. By Lafcadio Hearn. (The Hokuseido Press, Kanda, Tokyo, Japan. $1.50 each.)

The Hokuseido Press of Tokyo is collecting in a series of uniform volumes all of Hearn's lectures delivered at the Tokyo Imperial University. In addition to the volumes here listed, the following are now available: "Some Strange English Literary Figures of the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Centuries," "Lectures on Shakespeare," "Lectures on Flowers in English Poetry and English Tree Poetry," "Lectures on the Moon and Insects," "Life and Literature," "Poets and Poems," "Romance and Reason." These volumes will rank as "classics" in the study of Victorian Philosophy and the Lectures on Prose will greatly impress those who are already somewhat familiar with the subjects treated. Hearn was compelled to present his material in an elementary fashion to his Japanese students. Nevertheless, it is good to know that all of his work is being preserved.

An imaginative narration of life under the earth by a more or less recognizable human being of a million years or so hence, who the sun has cooled off and the surface of the planet become a dead waste of ice. By that time man has become superlatively scientific and has managed to survive by boring out a vast cavernous world, warmed by the internal heat of the shrinking globe. All food is chemically produced, and men and women have achieved a scientifically ideal existence. However, after millenniums of this terrible boredom develops, as a result of which, preparations are being made for a retreat in mass to another and better favored planet when the narrative ends. The text, though suggesting some pertinent ironic criticism of certain social trends and dreams of our day, is merely a good excuse for the drawings of John Vasson that suggest the visions of a nightmare seen in a ghastly, timeless hush of terror.

BRUN had reached the retirement age from the diplomatic service of his country. Later this month his successor, Otto Wadstedt, will arrive in Washington. Brun's departure from the diplomatic corps removes from the official life of Washington one of its most colorful and familiar figures.

For many years this heavy-mustached, genial diplomat with his gay uniform has been a definite part of the picture in the capital. One of the few remaining envoys who still cling to "court dress" for ceremonial occasions, Brun brought glamour to state functions.

He will remain in Washington even though he no longer has official status. The Danish Legation, over which he has presided for so long, has been purchased by him and will be his home. His winters will be spent in the capital, his summers at his cottage at Bar Harbor.

HE will not even return home for a visit at the present, for, if he should, he would come under the quota law on his return to the United States and would be regarded merely as a visitor.

Brun leaves the corps as the second ranking Minister in Washington. Only Viscount d'Almeida, Minister of Portugal, tops him by point of service. Starting in diplomacy at the age of 25 as an assistant in the office of the Danish Minister of Foreign Affairs, Brun has spent most of his career in Washington.

A high point in his career came in 1916, when he placed his signature on the treaty which ceded the Danish West Indies (Virgin Islands) to the United States.

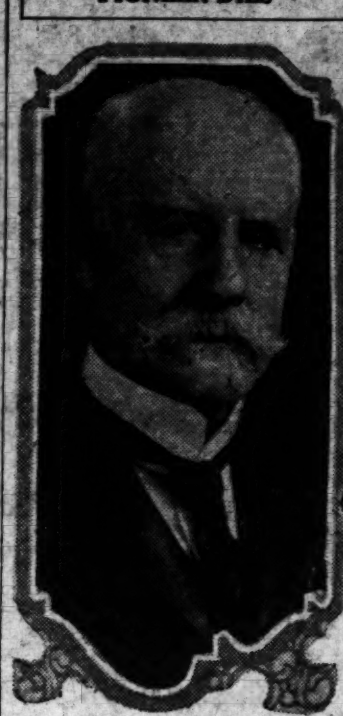

AVERAGING BOOKS AND CANDY.
From the Louisville Courier-Journal.
TOTAL annual book sales average one volume per capita. Total annual candy sales average 10 pounds per capita. So says a long dissertation on American frugality. The average American buys but one book a year and eats 10 pounds of candy. It is doubtful if the average American does either. You can't average up books and candy and get average Americans out of either. People who buy books at all usually buy a great many more than one a year, and a great many other people who carry home an armful of books every week from the library—and read them—haven't bought a book in years.

JOHN DELANY, 88, DIES AFTER 3 YEARS' ILLNESS

Former Real Estate Dealer Was Grandson of John Mullanphy, Pioneer Trader.

John O'Fallon Delany died last night at his home, 5105 Lindell boulevard, one week before his eighty-ninth birthday. His death, from chronic bronchitis, followed an illness which had confined him to his home for three years.

The funeral will be held at St. Louis Cathedral at 10 a. m. Friday. Interment will be in Calvary Cemetery.

Mr. Delany was a grandson of John Mullanphy, pioneer St. Louis trader and founder of Catholic charities. He spent most of his active years in property management and in the real estate business. He held the degree of Doctor of Medicine, but had not practiced that profession for many years.

Entire Life Spent in St. Louis. His entire life was spent in St. Louis, except for intervals of travel and schooling abroad, and his medical studies at Columbia College, New York. He was a graduate of St. Louis University.

During his studies there he became acquainted with the Rev. Peter DeSmet, noted Jesuit missionary to the Indians. At Father DeSmet's invitation, young Delany in 1882 accompanied "the Black Robe" as the priest was called by the Indians, on one of his latest visits to the tribes of the far Northwest.

The journey was made up the Missouri River, by a succession of stern woad packet boats used in the fur trade, to Fort Benton, in Montana. At points along the Upper Missouri, Indian tribesmen boarded the boats to claim their "presents," and at one point shots followed the craft as it started upstream. A gold rush to the Black Hills caused the young man to change his return route, but he and his companion, John F. Valle, did not find wealth there, and made their way back to Sioux City and civilization.

Popular Deans of the 80s. Mr. Delany, who in the '70s and '80s was the most popular of St. Louis society beaux, was married in 1891 to Miss Elizabeth Sloan. Their home, until 20 years ago, was on Delany family residence at 2308 Lafayette avenue, built in 1886. Mr. and Mrs. Delany in 1924 gave this property to the Immaculate Conception parish, and it is now the site of the parish school.

Mrs. Delany survives her husband. A. J. Lindsay, Mrs. J. M. Francis and Miss Marian Lindsay are his nephews and nieces, and Mrs. J. Boyle Price and Mrs. William Ewing of New York are granddaughters.

MODERNIST DANCERS

PERFORM BRILLIANTLY

Harald Kreutzberg and Yvonne Georgi Well Received at Odeon.

By THOMAS R. SHERMAN.
HAROLD KREUTZBERG and Yvonne Georgi gave a dance recital at the Odeon last night before a large, fashionable and interested audience. It was the second of these eminent and expert practitioners of the modernist dance method had appeared in St. Louis and their performance was once more characterized by the utmost brilliance.

Though Kreutzberg and Georgi have developed a personal quality which would prevent their being assigned to any general classification their kind of dancing revealed a definite impetus from Mary Wigman. This school of the dance rejects both the formalistic design of the classic ballet and the free emotionalism of the romantic dancers and insists on the expression of fairly definite ideas.

In the hands of the two German artists who performed last night the ideas involved were stated as precisely as the limits of pantomime allowed. They were also illuminated with a hard, clear and searching light and elaborated by means of incisive, brittle gestures. Their dancing, in fact, shared, with a great deal of post-armistice music and post-armistice painting, the qualities that make for hard surfaces, clean edges and sharp lines. It had a tremendous directional force but at the same time was deficient in that inner radiance which is usually known as charm.

But since Kreutzberg and Georgi were obviously trying to suggest ideas rather than a long series of interlocking moods, it is only fair to judge them on that basis. One can say, therefore, that while they failed in the elementary matter of producing goose-flesh, they stimulated a lively mental satisfaction.

It is no small tribute to their mastery to say that Kreutzberg and Georgi, singly and in combination, always filled the stage. The sureness and economy of every motion provided a steady focus for what is sometimes the wandering attention of the audience.

All of their numbers were short but packed with meaning. Several of these were repeated.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK.

A N indoor caprice these wintry days is sitting at a window to watch steel workers and riveters on the top floor of a 43-story building near by. Through binoculars one may follow the dizzy exploits of men who have apparently conquered fear.

They are as sure-footed on a narrow beam spun high in the clouds as a cat on the prairie. In instances they jog along like Mexican peons over a mountain trail. Sometimes they teeter and sway in the swift wind so perilously that a watcher has to turn away.

At times they even grow playful. This noon a number of them were lunching, their legs dangling in the air. A joker above sloshed the slightest slip with a bucket of water. The slightest slip who have apparently conquered fear.

One of their casual stunts is to pass each other on a slim beam. They grip shoulders and with a turn, like the quick spin of a waltz, go on their way. A few of them have mascots, a dog or cat, that follow about with the same sureness.

A disaster is costly to contractors. If a steel worker falls, it is the inevitable custom for the rest to knock off work for the day. The smokers are mostly cigarette smokers but rarely drink. Boose and steeple-jacking do not mix. Butter milk is the favorite tipple.

The majority of the intrepid artists are married, devoted family men with highly developed sentimentalities. They know that each day offers the hazard of being their last. Frequently their wives wave to them from the sidewalks.

As a rule they are farm bred boys who acquired the sturdiness hard work and life in the open country. Their big task is one of concentration. They train themselves to reject any suggestion of fear or thought of a false step.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—Huerta Rittel, blond Viennese court beauty, told under cross-examination today how she and Conant Hatch, St. Joseph (Mich.) iron manufacturer, started calling each other pet names. She is suing Hatch, a married man, for $250,000 for breach of promise.

"We were sitting in a cafe," she said, "when Mr. Hatch saw a little white poodle made of candy. It had a roguish look and he suggested it looked like him. Then he said, 'you call me sugar doggie,' and I said, 'this gave him the idea I ought to have a pet name. 'You eat like a horse,' he said, and then suggested he call me 'honey horsey.'" years farm machinery plants produced 2,160,000,000 roubles worth of machinery and next year it is expected they will turn out some 800,000,000 roubles worth of these necessary aids to agriculture. Only 16,000 tractors were manufactured in the six-year period, but in 1931 alone this number will be exceeded.

"The collective farming movement is gaining in popularity and at present the community farms are cultivating some 38,000,000 hectares of land. (A hectare is equivalent to 2.47 acres.) The "socialized sector," which includes both state and collective farms, has about 42,000,000 hectares under cultivation.

"Within the last six years the Government has spent 2,100,000,000 roubles on the construction of new houses. The housing problem is rapidly being eliminated and it will be but a short time until we have comfortable quarters for everybody living in the cities. The urban centers have become overcrowded in the recent years, but the Soviet Government has added 15,600,000 square meters of living space to the badly crowded quarters.

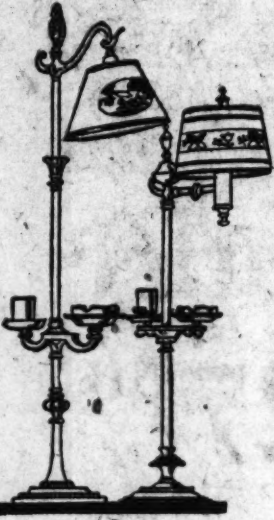

"Finally, the Government has established a number of new universities, hundreds of scientific research institutions, and many thousands of new clubs, schools, libraries, hospitals, sanatoriums, rest homes, etc."

"The Pedlar" First Play Written in St. Louis
Before Young Ladies Dared Appear on "Wicked" Stage.

Broad comedy as it was conceived on the frontier in 1821—by Jefferson Barracks paymaster—

will be presented by Washington University dramatic students next Tuesday evening at January Hall,

in "A Century of Amateur Theatricals in St. Louis."
The play is "The Pedlar," the first written in St. Louis. It was produced and published in days when bishops lifted hands in horror at theaters and "young ladies" dared not go on the stage, even as amateurs, if they wanted to keep that chivalrous title. The "century" will be rounded out by two plays written by students in competition for the Wilson prize.
Back in 1815, related Prof. William Bruce Carson, author of a forthcoming book on the theater in early St. Louis and director of the presentation, a group of "young gentlemen" presented "The School for Authors" and "The Budget of Blunders" at the courthouse, then in what formerly was James Baird's blacksmith shop, on the west side of Third street, near Spruce.

Graduates From Smithy.
By the following February the Roscan Society was formed and functioning, and in December the Theatrical Society was under way.
It must have been successful, Prof.
Carson remarked, since it left the one-time smithy and opened its own theater, in a frame building on Main street, between Locust and Olive streets, on Feb. 1, 1815, with
"The Village Lawyer."

There "The Pedlar" was produced nearly 110 years ago in floral farcical style and primitive trappings which Prof. Carson will attempt to reproduce next week.
Its author was Maj. Alphonso Wetmore, paymaster of Jefferson Barracks. The Theatricals "seemed to have been largely military," Carson remarked, since most of the amateurs in the cast were officers of the Army post or members of the St. Louis Guards.

The leader of the society, however, was John H. Vos, sign painter and semi-professional actor, who came to St. Louis from Lexington, Ky. His wife, "probably not having social aspirations," said Prof.
Carson, "occasionally took parts, and, a quarter of a century later, his daughter, Mary, became as Mrs. Stuart quite a well-known actress."
Noah M. Ludlow, author of "Dramatic Life as I Found It," came to St. Louis in 1820 and with Vos attempted a season in the Theatrical Theater. It was not a success. Ludlow went to Kentucky and returned in December with the Collins & Jones' professional company, which Vos joined. Some time before its departure in April, "The Pedlar" was produced "to great applause," said J. A. Fox, publisher of the first St. Louis directory, declared on the title page of the edition he printed in May, 1821.

"Address of Welcome."
Handbills, following the style of the period, are being circulated at the university announcing that "gentlemen wishing to reserve seats will please send their servants to hold them." They announce also that the performance will be preceded by a representation of the flowery "address of welcome," delivered in 1821 by Col. Charles Koenig, a newspaper man.
The play itself is described as saturated with the color of the times. It concerns a "Yankee" who, in the first scene, cheats his future father-in-law, but, as might be expected, it comes out all right in the end. It was revived here in 1838 by Ludlow and Sol Smith, but has not been played in the 92 years since then.

None of the "young ladies" of the village, naturally, would take parts. Women in the cast were provided by Collins & Jones, and the professional mannerisms of that period will be represented in the university production. Chief among the women was Mrs. Groshon, who, Prof. Carson related, had caused a stir in defying the
"Equity" of that day.
Among the men, the title role was played by Capt. Benjamin F.
Larned, then a paymaster at the Barracks and later a Colonel, father of Lieutenant-Colonel Charles T.
Larned and grandfather of William Larned, who was editor of "The Spectator" and dramatic editor of the St. Louis Republic. Another of the amateurs was Walter B.
Alexander, who married Therese, daughter of Gen. Bernard and Mrs. Emilie Labadie Pratte, a descendant of the Chouteaus; Paxton, the printer; D. B. Hoffman, a merchant; W. McGunagle, later to follow the Santa Fe trail, and T. Goddard, described in Paxton's director as a "conveyancer." Maj.
Wetmore, the author, himself traveled the Santa Fe trail and even penetrated into Old Mexico to ob-

In 1852, the first train west of the Mississippi River made a trip over the first few miles of finished road. The following year this line was completed and opened for business. Its terminals were St. Louis and Kirkwood... Boatmen's had already been serving the community since 1847. On June 23rd, 1853, this progressive bank announced two discount days each week—Tuesdays and Fridays.

IT IS a far cry from 1847 to 1930—from the slow, wood-burning locomotive to the oil-burning mountains of steel which now speed over the rails—from the friendly little banking room to the Boatmen's of today—large, modern, progressive and efficient, and still retaining a warm personal contact with its customers.

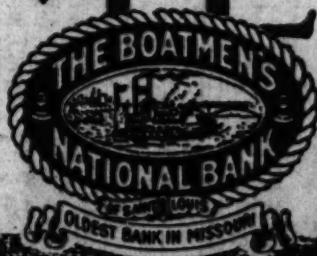

That friendly relationship has been a cardinal principle at Boatmen's for 83 years. It is more responsible for its progress—and for the growth of its customers—than any other one thing.

Boatmen's is the oldest bank in Missouri. Regardless of how different in outward form the Boatmen's of yesterday and today may be, the same sound policies upon which the bank was founded have been followed consistently through all these years.

Boatmen's offers you the facilities of its well-balanced banking, investment and fiduciary departments—with courageous support.

MAYOR WALKER'S CALLERS PUT TO FLIGHT BY TEAR GAS PISTOL Weapon Accidentally Discharged When Judge Picks Up Cigarette He Dropped.
 By the Associated Press.
 NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—Some football writers were conferring yesterday with Mayor James Walker about the Army-Navy football game when Chief City Magistrate Corrigan entered the reception room of the mayor's chambers at City Hall, sat down and took out a cigarette. He started to light it, dropped it and stooped to pick it up. As he did so his arm pressed an inside pocket, so as to pull the trigger of a tear gas pistol, resembling a fountain pen, which the Chief Magistrate carries for emergency use.

 The eye-smarting gas filled the room and the halls. Police Commissioner Mulrooney and other persons who were waiting to confer with the Mayor joined the football writers and the Chief Magistrate in flight.

WALL STREET SPURT MARKS STOCK CLOSE AFTER LOWER PRICE SWING

Market Sounds Out the Bottom Level Recorded a Month Ago, Dropping About 2 to 5 Points—Recoveries of 1 to 2 Points—Trade More Active.

By the Associated Press.
 NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—The stock market sounded out the bottom level recorded just one month ago, today, and seemed to hit hardpan, for the list rebounded smartly in the final few minutes of trading.
 After dropping about 2 to 5 points in the most active trading since the middle of November, the market recovered about 1 to 2 points from the bottom. Trading was dull during the morning, but quickened later in the day, piling up total transactions of about 2,150,000 shares. A few large individual transactions, of which the largest was 50,000 shares of General Electric, were said in brokerage circles to represent special transactions to establish tax losses.
 After selling off 2 1/2 and 4 points, U. S. Steel and American Telephone rebounded more than 2 from the bottom. After declining about 2 points, General Electric, American Can, American and Foreign Power and North American regained about half their losses. Shares closing 2 to 3 points lower included Bethlehem Steel, Case, Consolidated Gas, National Biscuit and Westinghouse Electric, most of which were up a point or so from the lowest. Johns Manville sold off 5 1/2 to a new low, then reduced its loss to less than 5.
 Foreign Exchanges were mostly firm, with Sterling rallying 1-16 to $4.85 1/2 for Cable. Spain, however, was weak, following report of further labor disturbances, and Shanghai was again under pressure, despite a firmer silver market.
 Optimistic Note Sounded.
 As had long forecast, the weekly steel trade reviews sounded an optimistic note, and the United States Steel Corporation reported an increase in its unfilled orders during November of 157,673 tons. "Iron Age" estimate indicated that steel ingot production had sagged to 38 per cent of capacity, against 39 last week, but this was regarded as representing merely the seasonal trend. In fact, "American Metal Market" said the decline in steel mill activity, as reflecting general business recession, ended at the close of October, "since when only seasonal influences have been felt. Orders and production have decreased, since then, and by the same token there will be improvement after Jan. 1, probably immediately after."
 Dividend news included some bright spots. New York Central declared its regular quarterly payment of $2 a share. American Waterworks discontinued its policy of paying only $1 in cash and 5 per cent in stock, annually, and placed its shares on a $3 annual cash basis with a quarterly disbursement of 75 cents. Checker Cab, however, reduced its annual dividend basis from $4.20 to $1.80.
 The report of freight car loadings for the week ended Nov. 29, which included the Thanksgiving day holiday, was issued. A loss from the previous week of 77,672 cars, however, was less than the normal seasonal decline for that week. Declines from the like weeks of 1929 and 1928, nevertheless, were 16 and 22 per cent, respectively. The decline from the like week of 1928 was close to the widest of the year. What figures are now available lead to the hope that the comparison for the first week of December will be found to have been more favorable.
 The drop in copper prices from 12 to 11 cents a pound was announced. This followed the recent packing up of the domestic price from 9 1/2 to 12 cents a pound. Most of them have withdrawn from the market entirely pending better demand for the weakness in silver was another cheerless aspect of the non-ferrous metal situation. The weekly petroleum statistics showed another substantial cut in crude production, but gasoline stocks again increased, with was disappointing in view of the recent price heaviness.
 Call money was firm at 2 per cent. There was no concession in the outside market, where limited funds were offered yesterday at 1 1/2 per cent.

 HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Dec. 10.—A movie fight became a little too realistic yesterday and Richard Arlen, movie cowboy, suffered a severe powder burn on his face. The accident occurred when another actor fired a blank at close range.

FREE RIDES FOR WORKERS

By the Associated Press.
 DETROIT, Mich., Dec. 10.—Men now working for the city in return for groceries, fuel and kindred forms of relief, will receive free transportation to and from their work on the municipally-owned Detroit street railways.
 The Street Railway Commission decided today to put the plan into effect for a two weeks' experimental period, after a conference with Mayor Frank Murphy and Thomas E. Dolan, Superintendent of the Welfare Department. Two tickets for each day they work will be given to the 5000 men who are so employed on part-time jobs. Under the system in use of rotating the available jobs, it is estimated that 1000 tickets a day will be needed.

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 10.—The Government T. S. C. (T. S. C. M.) has announced it would suspend all cotton business at Alexandria for 15 days, beginning tomorrow. On the Alexandria cotton market yesterday's closing prices were the lowest on record. The Government's decision to close the future market temporarily was said to have resulted from a belief that a fall of prices was due to bear operations.

NAPHTHA BURNS FATAL TO AMATEUR CLEANER

Mrs. Edward J. McDonald Dies in Hospital After Friction Sets Off Fluid.

Mrs. Edward J. McDonald, 42 years old, was fatally burned yesterday at her home, 7840 Melrose avenue, University City, when naphtha with which she was cleaning clothing was ignited by friction.

Her clothing caught fire as she rushed from the house carrying the pan of blazing liquid. Rolling on the ground she extinguished the flames.

University City police reported that Mrs. McDonald, apparently believing the house had caught fire, then ran back into the kitchen and carried out two caged canary birds before she collapsed. Neighbors applied first aid treatment and took her to St. Mary's Hospital. She died there about 6:30 o'clock last night.

Mrs. McDonald's husband is the St. Louis freight agent for the Washburn Railroad. Two sons and a daughter also survive.

MAN FOUND SLAIN IN AUTO; WOMAN AND HUSBAND HELD

Kansas Farmer Jealous of Attention Paid Her by Victim, His Wife Tells Police.

By the Associated Press.
JUDGE CITY, Kan., Dec. 10.—Mrs. Veryl Shelton and her husband, C. S. Shelton, Stevens County farmer, are held by police today following the finding of the body of Richard Andrews, 46 years old, in an automobile here last night.

Andrews was shot to death. Officers expressed the belief he was killed because of his association with Mrs. Shelton, who yesterday filed a divorce suit.

Mrs. Shelton told police her husband was jealous of attention paid her by the younger man.

"My husband had threatened to kill both of us if he ever saw us together," she was quoted as saying.

Shelton is under arrest at Hugoton, while Mrs. Shelton is in jail here.

Mrs. Shelton said she had driven here from Hugoton with Andrews late yesterday, stopping in Cimarron for dinner. She said she went to her room in a lodging house to change her dress and returning ten minutes later found Andrews dead.

Does COFFEE Give You Sleepless Nights?

COFFEE (also other drinks and foods) often keep you awake. Frequently this is due to an acid condition they create. The next time you raid the ice box before retiring, eat two or three Tums (often only one Tum is enough) to relieve the heartburn, sour stomach, gas, acid indigestion, which cause many sleepless nights. Easy to prove—get a roll of Tums at any drug store and try them. Only 10c.

• Strike at Colds • At Their Source • By Eating Yeast •

Drugs and Medicines Won't Prevent Those Nasty Colds!

Get at the cause by correcting Intestinal Fatigue

YOU know it well enough without consulting a doctor... a cold is the sign of lowered bodily resistance. It means that your system is run-down.

And nine times out of ten that is the case because of Intestinal Fatigue, a condition that causes 90% of our commonest ailments.

Medical science has known for three-quarters of a century that fresh yeast exercises a remarkable effect in cases of intestinal congestion.

Eaten regularly, like any other food, fresh yeast clears away the accumulated waste masses that are at the bottom of Intestinal Fatigue. It accomplishes this by gently stimulating natural intestinal action.

But, in addition, yeast is the richest known food substance in vitamins B and G and the "sunshine" vitamin D. Each cake contains these three vitamins.

So don't be satisfied to fuss with colds. Get at their most common cause, and your whole health benefits. Simply eat Fleischmann's Yeast regularly... three cakes a day, according to the directions on the label.

And start right now, before the next meal. You can get Fleischmann's Yeast at grocers', restaurants, soda fountains.

Eat FLEISCHMANN'S YEAST for Health 3 Times a Day
Always ask for Fleischmann's fresh Yeast (with the yellow label)... the only yeast "irradiated" to give it the Sunshine Vitamin D! Rich in Vitamins B and G, too.

CLASS A. A. MINORS WANT TO OPTION PLAYERS TO SMALLER LEAGUES

MAJORS TO BE ASKED TO AGREE TO FOUR-YEAR MINIMUM OF SERVICE FOR ATHLETES IN BUSHES

By J. Roy Stockton.
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—Representatives of the non-draft minor leagues presented their peace terms to American and National League committees this morning and a special joint meeting was scheduled for tonight for consideration and decision on the proposition. Another session with the minors has been scheduled for tomorrow morning, when they will be informed as to the wishes of the big fellows.

Members of both big league committees said after the meeting that they had agreed not to discuss the minor league proposition until it had been presented officially to the major league magnates, but the important features of the minor league proposition have become known.

The minor leagues want to have the right of putting players out on option in leagues of lesser classification.

They want players to be immune to the draft for at least four years and in cases where a player spends all or most of the four years in low-classification leagues, the majors are asked to permit a player to serve in class AA, or the American Association, International and Pacific Coast Leagues, for two years before becoming subject to the draft.

The major leagues are said to be willing to make the concessions provided the minors agree to a rule that will permit each big league club to have 15 players out on option for three years each. At present, the option limit is eight players, for two years each.

The draft price of $7500 is said to be perfectly satisfactory to the minors. In the case of a larger price, it would work a corresponding hardship on minors which the majors would not want to do.

The morning passed without any trades, although Manager Bill Killefer of the Browns held two conferences with Donnie Bush of the White Sox. Bush is interested in a trade involving Lu Blue but didn't disclose the names of the players he had agreed to give in such a deal.

Cy Perkins, who almost signed with the Cardinals organization, was in conference with Joe McCarthy of the Yankees, and it was stated that they were near to an agreement and that Perkins probably would be in a New York American League uniform next year.

American League players of 1931 will wear numbers on their uniforms to facilitate their identification by the cash customers, as a result of a decision reached by the club owners of the circuit yesterday. Managers of both leagues were in session from 1 o'clock until after 6 o'clock but the decision of the numbers was the only thing of interest to the fans that materialized.

There were rumblings for and

Shires Will NOT Be a Brownie, Friel States

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—BILL FRIEL, business manager of the Browns, denied this afternoon that Art Shires had been ordered to report to the St. Louis American League club.

"Shires belongs to the Milwaukee club," Friel said, "and we not only have not bought him, but don't plan to buy him. If we make a deal that will send Lu Blue away, we will depend on young Burns as our first baseman."

Against the background of baseball, and today during the second day's session, club owners in both leagues are expected to discuss the question of major league ownership of minor league clubs. A proposition that is expected to develop tomorrow at the joint meeting into a clash between Commissioner Landis and the proponents of the "farm" system.

National League owners discussed the so-called "only ball" at great length and listened to Julian W. Curtis, president of the concern which manufactures the big league baseballs, who explained the processes of manufacture and the care devoted to standardizing and maintaining the high quality of the balls.

John McGraw was one of those who insisted in the face of all argument that the ball was much livelier than it used to be and much livelier than it should be. There were arguments for and against the ball as it is, but no decision was reached as to any action.

The National League today expects to take up the suggestion that home-run zones be established, to cut down the number of four-baggers.

Rhem "Exposed" for Trade.
No trades of even minor importance were announced, but it was said that the Cardinals still have hopes of arranging a transaction. Branch Rickey, who indicated that he might do a little swapping, declined to say what players or clubs were involved. Rickey said that Flint Rhem's request, he was being "exposed" to possible trade, but that he did not think there was much prospect of an agreement.

Economy the Keynote of Both Baseball Meetings; 1930 Attendance Set New Mark

Business Manager Bill Friel of the Browns announced that Coach Lena Blackburne had been given his release and that Earl McNeely would be lifted as a player and coach, a double which such as is played by Ray Blades of the Cardinals.

Friel also confirmed a report that First Baseman Lu Blue had been given permission to try to sell himself to some big league club. Friel said the Browns had named a price and told Blue that if he could sell himself at that figure they would approve the deal. When asked why this arrangement had been made, Friel said it was a case of the Browns' dissatisfaction. Blue's contract last year was an expensive one and it is understood that if he can't sell himself to some other club he will have to take a salary cut if he remains with the Browns. As he is a 10-year man, he can't be sent to a minor league club.

Only Two Parks Affected.
American League owners didn't discuss the lively ball as a problem, but heard a suggestion from President Barnard that screens be erected on the fences to eliminate the easy four-baggers. He would put up a 40-foot screen where fences are 300 feet or less from home plate, a 30-foot screen on fences more than 300 and less than 325 feet from home, and a 20-foot screen on fences less than 350 feet distant. No decision was reached, it being pointed out that only the Yankee stadium and the Cleveland park would be affected by such regulations.

President Barnard was re-elected to that office for a five-year term and Frank Navin of Detroit re-elected vice president. The new Board of Directors of the league will be the owners of the Philadelphia, Washington, Detroit and St. Louis clubs.

The National League's new board of directors includes Sam Breadon of the Cardinals, Sidney Weil of Cincinnati, L. C. Gray of Philadelphia and York of Brooklyn.

President Heydler's report to his club owners disclosed that the National League established a new attendance record during the 1930 season, despite widespread depression of other lines of business. The total attendance was more than five and a half million, which was half a million more than the 1929 total and 154,000 more than the previous high record year of 1927.

Heydler stated that despite the excellent attendance record, several clubs failed to show any substantial profit and this was attributed to high salaries and soaring operating expenses.

Chicago led the league in attendance at home with a total of 1,483,624 and Brooklyn was second with 1,100,000, it being the first time in the city's history that the total ran above a million.

In the interest of neatness and good showmanship it was voted that hereafter persons not attired in baseball uniforms will not be allowed on the National League playing field after the park gates have been opened. That means that small boys who have been in the habit of chasing flies in the outfield and working out the teams, will have to get uniforms or stay off the field. President Heydler said that as a result of this rule uniforms probably would be provided for the flunkies who roll and sweep the diamond and who spread tarpaulins in threatening weather.

Both leagues reported that the high records had been set during the season for the number of baseballs used. The National League teams used 5148 dozen baseballs while the American League teams accounted for 4480 dozen. The American League issued a detailed statement showing that the Athletics topped the circuit, using up 750 dozen. The Boston Red Sox were low, needing only 450 dozen.

Apparently demerit statisticians were on duty throughout the season, the statement specified the number of home runs hit out of the park and the number of balls fouled into the stands in each city. According to this report the Athletics used 478 dozen of balls, of which 107 were batted out of the park for home runs, while 1181 were fouled into the stands.

John McGraw of the Giants announced that he had advised Dick Kinsella and two other scouts that they were at liberty to try to find employment elsewhere if they could better themselves. McGraw declined to elaborate on the statement, but the inference was that the scouts were going to be asked to take a salary cut. McGraw also Zoning the Home Run.

ONE theory of curbing the home run epidemic is by zoning the park, crediting drives within certain areas as doubles, triples or homers, according to the spot where the ball strikes in the stands.

No thrill is that. Too much like indoor golf, where the mid-winter fan—or fanatic—drives off a doormat at a bull's eye and gets 100, 150, 200 or 250 yards credited to him according to whichever ring of the target that his ball strikes.

That's synthetic golf. Zoning extra base hits would be synthetic baseball and therefore equally uninteresting.

The plan to screen a park at different heights, according to the nearness of the stand to home plate, at least contributes to action. The play continues after the ball strikes the screen and falls to the field. The fielder must recover the ball and make the play on the runner. But with the zoning plan, they just call it a two-bagger or a three-bagger and the runner trots to his allotted post.

We can do without that sort of doubles and triples.

A Step Ahead.

ANNOUNCEMENT that the American League players are to wear numbers on their uniforms during all games at home and abroad comes after many years of plugging for this feature. Numbers should be of considerable aid to the fans and little cost to the magnates.

Minor leagues long ago found the system useful but the majors except for spasmodic efforts by individual teams, refused to adopt the plan.

Every other sport involving teams has found this plan of great aid to the public. College football coaches fought against the innovation for a long time on the theory that it deprived their players of some of their deception. But that idea has long been dispelled.

If the league follows the lead of Connie Mack and adopts the home score card and the public address system of announcements it will come in for some more kind words by fans.

What Does This Forecast?

PURDUE UNIVERSITY, a member of the Big Ten Conference, has abandoned its baseball program for 1931. Lack of interest and lack of funds combined to cause the announcement. At the same time basketball and other activities that are non-paying will be continued at Purdue.

Is it to be inferred that college baseball no longer commands student interest? Or did it ever?

For years baseball has struggled along in colleges. While we still refer to it as the national game, it is one of the least patronized of college sports. At the same time attendances of football proportions attracted. In fact, almost every school in the United States conducts baseball at a loss.

Other sports are more interesting to undergraduates and especially to the alumni, who go to great lengths to help build up the football teams of their alma matras, but couldn't even tell you the name of the star pitcher on their respective collegiate teams. Basketball and even soccer football are nothing baseball out of its place as a major college sport, it seems.

Boos for Boxing.

ANNOUNCER BIZ KINNEY, "Anxious his hand" requesting silence in the ring at the Coliseum last night. Biz got the silence—for a moment. Just long enough, in fact for the fans to discover that the announcer wanted to tell them that Friday night's boxing show—then came the deluge. Boos drowned out Kinney's words.

What's the answer to that one? Not difficult at all. The boxers have disappointed the customers so often in this city that the public is resentful. "Every time I go to one of these high-priced boxing shows I get stung," explained one of the cohort of rab-ber-ry tossers. "When I attend a wrestling show I never am disappointed—they always give you your money's worth."

Which, of course, as applied to the rest of the world, may or may not seem true. It depends on what you expect for your money.

There is no doubt, however, that the boxers, in many cases, do not treat the public with proper appreciation. The sooner they awake to the fact that they must give something in return for high prices, the sooner the game will return to popularity.

considered it even remotely and do not expect to consider it," Rickey replied. "I can cite three good reasons. The Cardinals, Sam Breadon and my home. I would like to consider myself a lifetime fixture with the Cardinals. Moreover, I have purchased a home in St. Louis and I want to stay there. No, there is absolutely no chance that I will shift to Philadelphia or any other club."

Rickey also stated that he had received word from Rochester that the reported Blues of First Baseman Jimmy Collins was not serious.

Potentate a Turfman.

Aga Khan, the Indian potentate, maintains racing stables in England and France, which are among the best in the world.

GRIFFITHS WILL WEIGH 188 FOR STRIBLING BOUT

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—W. L. Stribling, the Georgia heavyweight title contender, continued to rule a two-to-one favorite today to take the measure of Tuffy Griffiths when the two meet Friday night at the Stadium in a 10-round bout which promises to produce a challenger for Max Schmeling's crown.

Griffiths finished his heavy workouts yesterday and Stribling is expected to bring his preliminary activities to a close today.

Resuming his training yesterday after a two-day layoff, Stribling sparred with one of his mates in a manner that indicated his left hand is giving him no serious trouble. It was reported that his hand had been injured in recent sparring bouts, but spectators were able to discover no evidence of this weakness.

Griffiths announced that he will enter the ring weighing approximately 188 pounds, Friday night. At this weight he will be able to set and maintain a pace the like of which Stribling has never seen, he said.

TRAFTON, PRO FOOTBALL STAR, TO BOX AGAIN

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—George Trafton, the man mountain center on the Chicago Bear professional football team, is going to take up boxing as a serious profession.

"As soon as the football season is over, I'm going east to train for two months," Big George said, "and then I'll be ready for any of them."

It was Big George who stopped the ring record of Arthur "The Great" Shires last winter.

SHARKEY AGREES TO TERMS FOR SCHMELING BOUT NEXT SUMMER

BOSTON, Dec. 10.—Jack Sharkey, Boston heavyweight, today agreed to terms for a championship bout with Max Schmeling in New York next summer.

The agreement was made during a conference with William F. Carey, president of the Madison Square Garden Corporation, and Damon Runyon, New York sports writer and Milk Fund representative.

Sharkey, who has been a free agent since his bout with Vittorio Campolo, also agreed, it was stated by his managers, to meet the winner of the proposed Primo Carnera-Young Stribling bout in Miami next February.

FIVE-MILE RACE WILL BE SKATED TONIGHT AT WINTER GARDEN

The longest race that is skated in St. Louis will close the first of three series of indoor speed races tonight at the Winter Garden. Besides the five-mile event, a dispute over second place will be decided in the intermediate division. Harry Degenhart of the Winter Garden and Frank Metz of the Arena each scored 90 points during their series, and a 440-yard race at 9:30 and a half-mile event at 10:30 o'clock would decide the standing.

The Class A and B skaters will skate in one race, and the first three in the Class A division to cross the finish line will get the points in that division, and the time for the Class B racers with 30 points for first, 20 for second and 10 for third. There are 20

MATHEWS, PIVAC AND BEAN GIVE ARTHUR DEKUH HARD WORKOUT

By Damon Kerby.

They grow the boys rough and tough out in Pueblo, Colo., but even Pueblo's pride, George Zaharias, couldn't stop Milo Steinborn, the German strong man, who triumphed over the Pueblo Greek in 25 minutes of exciting action last night on the Coliseum wrestling program. A crowd of probably 7000 persons howled in joy when Steinborn picked up Zaharias, whirled him above his head several times in an "airplane spin" and slammed him to the mat for a touchdown.

Zaharias seemed weakened for the final bit of action when he took a nose dive through the ropes and over hastily vacated press chairs to the floor of the Coliseum. He had aimed a running butt at Steinborn's stomach, but Steinborn's stomach was the human body's strongest point, and the aforementioned result. Zaharias landed on his shoulder on the floor and appeared to be considerably shaken up. He crawled back into the ring before the referee had reached the defense after the fall to the floor.

The final result of the match surprised some of the regular wrestling patrons, who had figured that somehow, somehow, Zaharias would continue to win at the Coliseum until he met Jimmy London in what would be advertised as a championship match. But it was a life in the boy who had to sit on him half dozen times before he was thrown. He will be back, and may yet get a shot at London.

Steinborn, by virtue of the victory, will be matched with London for a meeting here Dec. 17.

Every wrestling match was followed with intense interest by the fans, who apparently had turned out in the hope of witnessing Zaharias "get him." They were not disappointed. Steinborn was inside and out of the harness. When he stuck it on Zaharias, which he did frequently, Zaharias howled in apparent pain and the crowd howled in pleasure.

The young Greek baited Steinborn with the usual slaps and cuffs and by arguing with the referee. Although the German didn't rise to the bait the crowd did. The spectators demanded satisfaction and that is what they got. The hero won, the "wildman" lost, and he is well along wrestling row today. The match lasted only a few seconds more than 20 minutes.

There was not much to the preliminary events. Ray Dusek played round with "Ghafoor" "Goofy" Khan of Afghanistan, and after the boy with the handle-bar mustache had tired himself out Dusek butted him in the stomach, put on "cradle roll" and had the fight in such a way that he gave up.

Jack Washburn of Los Angeles and a newcomer named John Katana of Canada fussed a-d made faces at each other for the first 30 minutes of their match, but neither gained the fall and in the end, Lloyd Burdick, formerly of the University of Illinois, pinned one Pat Flynn of El Paso while the customers were finding their seats.

The time was 2 minutes and 15 seconds. Burdick should be thrown in against sterner opposition, if he is going to continue to appear before the local public.

Fans Boo Boxing Announcement.
It is evident that at least some wrestling patrons hold no brief for boxing. When Big Kinney attempted to announce a coming boxing show he was greeted with a loud chorus of boos.

48 ENTRIES RECEIVED FOR BOXING CARD AT CROATIAN A. C. HALL

Tom Pivac, matchmaker for the Croatian Athletic Club, last night announced that he has received 48 entries for his boxing card which will take place tomorrow evening at the Croatian Hall, Chouteau, near Fourteenth.

In the two feature matches on the card, Frank Duxey, Mississippi Valley flyweight champion, meets Joe Smith of Fairfield, Ill., and Joe Herbert, Jr., Mississippi Valley junior welterweight titleholder, opposes Elmer Pokinghome, former Western A. A. U. champion.

Another flyweight match will be fought by Tony Viviano, winner of his last seven matches, and Johnny Camp of the South Broadway A. C. The featherweight feature will bring together Dan Durse and Bill Trout in a return bout, the latter having won their recent match. In the heavyweight set, Harold Hamilton, and Morris Hill of Kid Handy's stable, will be the contestants.

SOCCER TEAMS PLAY BENEFIT GAME, DEC. 18

Alabama Has Good Chance To Beat Washington State
Eleven, Alexander Writes

By W. A. Alexander,
Coach of Georgia Tech, and Member All-America Board of Football.

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 10.—Games last Saturday finally rang down the curtain on Southern football, save for the University of Alabama's game New Year's day in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena against Washington State.

Two games are planned, one between selected players of the St. Louis (professional) Soccer League, and the other between picked players of the Municipal (amateur) Soccer League.

Several such benefit games have been proposed lately but the St. Louis University authorities were averse to permitting the use of their field.

FOUR BOXERS SUSPENDED FOR FAILURE TO APPEAR FOR AMATEUR SHOW

BUSH VICTOR ON TECHNICAL KAYO IN TOWER A. C. FEATURE BOUT

THE RESULTS

Charles Gohrli, Overland A. C., defeated Johnny Kane, South Broadway A. C., (112 pounds), three rounds.

Joe Kerevas, Collinsville A. C., defeated Earl Breen, Sherman Park A. C., (137 pounds), four rounds.

Harold Moore, Elmer A. C., defeated Virgil Bave, Olympic A. C., (133 pounds), three rounds.

John Granger, Croissant A. C., defeated Paul Padraic, Tower A. C., (128 pounds), three rounds.

Jack O'Brien, Elmer A. C., defeated John Stigman, Tower A. C., (160 pounds), three rounds.

Joe Beroldi, Collinsville A. C., defeated Bud Clark, Tower A. C., (156 pounds), three rounds.

Russell Derby, Sherman Park A. C., defeated Leroy Freese, Tower A. C., (118 pounds), three rounds.

Johnny Bush, Elmer A. C., won from Elmer Polkinghorne, Wellington A. C., on a technical knockout in the first round (147 pounds).

Lucie J. Schutte and Tom Shaw, Mercer-Al West.

Four amateur boxers, members of the Mississippi Valley Boxing Association, stand suspended today for failure to weigh in for scheduled bouts at Rodenberg's Hall last night on a program held under the auspices of the Tower Athletic Club.

Buck Needham, George Miller, Louis Vollmer and Jack Smith are the boxers. The first belongs to the Tower A. C., while the other three are members of the Business Men's A. C.

James McGinn, recently named president of the association to succeed Jule Kummer, who resigned, in announcing the suspensions stated that a meeting of the organization would be called next week to consider the matter and at that time the boys would be given a hearing. If they furnish sufficient excuse, the suspensions may be lifted. If not, the length of time for which they will be forced to remain idle will be determined.

As a result of the boxers' failure to appear, the special program was wrecked. Not one of the four bouts billed as "specials" was held and the card was reduced to eight bouts instead of the 10 or 11 which usually are presented.

Bush stops Polkinghorne.

Elmer Polkinghorne, Wellington A. C., former Western A. A. U. welterweight champion, and Johnny Bush of the Tower A. C. met in a quickly arranged bout to take the place of one of the specials, and Bush won on a technical knockout in the first round, when a severe cut was opened over Polkinghorne's right eye. Polkinghorne claimed Bush butted him, but Al Nietz, the referee, stated if that were true he did not see the foul, and when Polkinghorne was unable to go on because of blood pouring into his eye, the bout was awarded to Bush on a technical knockout.

In another extra bout, Russell Derby of the Sherman Park A. C. won over Leroy Freese of the Tower A. C. The boys weighed 118 pounds each. Freese was making his first start in the ring and impressed the fans with his punching. He sent Derby to the floor once, but Russell hopped up before the count started.

Aside from the technical knockout registered against Polkinghorne, there was not a knockout during the evening, although only the bell at the end of the final round saved Bud Cairo of the Tower A. C. from a kayo at the hands of Joe Brendel of the Collinsville A. C. In the third round, Cairo went down once for a count of nine, but got up and again fell to the floor, but the bell rang as the referee reached the count of seven.

About 600 persons attended.

ROOSEVELT QUINTET ROSES TO WARRENTON

BASKET TEAM, 41-13

Roosevelt High, which opens its City High School League basketball season Friday night against Beaumont High, lost a practice game to the Warrenton (Mo.) High School quintet yesterday afternoon on the Roosevelt floor, 41 to 13. In the past two years, Warrenton has scored two victories in three games over Roosevelt.

The one-sided defeat doesn't make the Rough Riders face the prospect of the league season with cheerful prospects. In previous practice games Roosevelt defeated the Western Military Academy and lost to Dupe, Ill. The Rough Riders were put through hard workouts by Coach Lorenson before the opening league game Friday night.

HIGH SCHOOL AND PREPARATORY LEAGUE

BEAUMONT WINS OVER FERGUSON; FOULS NUMEROUS

By Harold Tutthill.

Beaumont spurted in the fourth quarter yesterday afternoon to nose out Ferguson, 20 to 25, in a fast high school basketball game on the Beaumont court. The teams were tied at 12-11 at the half.

Play was so fast and furious on the narrow Beaumont floor that there were numerous fouls, 18 being called against each team. The North Siders made better use of their chances at the free throw line than did Ferguson, but the margin was not great enough to make any appreciable change in the score. Beaumont sank 12 free throws, Ferguson 11.

The game started slowly with Ferguson leading, 2 to 1, at the end of the first quarter. The county team took the lead in the next period, due to some fast work by Joel Hall under the basket. Hayward Gray tied the score at 12 to 12, with a basket just as the whistle blew for the half.

In the second half the fouling was frequent and four players were ejected on the four personal foul rule, two from each team. After Hall was forced to leave the game, Ferguson's pass-work suffered, although Elmer Lauekerth tried valiantly to keep Ferguson in the running with two field goals and four free throws.

Every player on the Beaumont squad scored in the last two quarters, but Ferguson held the city team to a 20 to 19 score at the end of the third period. It was against the reserves that Beaumont managed to run up its total.

Belleville Five Beats Mascoutah

An early season defeat was avenged last night when the Belleville High basketball team won over Mascoutah, 25-15, on the Belleville floor. The visitors had won an earlier game at Mascoutah.

The game was a ragged affair. The host team took an early lead and held the advantage until Coach Friedell sent in his second stringers in the latter part of the contest and they were held 7, but one point in the final period.

The leading scorer of the game was H. Hund, Mascoutah forward, who tossed five field goals and one free throw for 11 points. Braun, Belleville forward, scored 10 points and they were held 7, but one point in the final period.

M'BRIDE QUINT IS EASY WINNER OVER CENTRAL

Rolling up the largest number of points totalling in a local high school basketball game this season, the McBride High quintet came through with an easy 43-16 victory over the Central High five at the McBride gym last night. The contest, an interleague affair, marked McBride's second conquest over a City League opponent within a week, as Saldan came out on the short end in a game with the Colonanders last Friday. About 400 saw the game.

The encounter was more or less of a breeze for the winners from start to finish, and after the opening minutes there was little doubt as to the outcome. Coach Toddy Kamp kept his first-string players in the game long enough to run up a good lead, and then withdrew them and allowed the substitutes to play the greater part of the contest. Although unable to match the regulars in scoring ability, the "bench-warmer" gave a good account of themselves.

UNIVERSITY CITY HIGH MEETS RITENOUR FIVE IN FIRST GAME FRIDAY

The University City High basketball team will make its first appearance this season against Ritenour at University City High Friday night in a County League game.

Coach Muhl should have a good team at University City this year. Five leftmen of last year's quintet have returned and all will start at the same positions they filled last season. The starting lineup for the Indians will be Johnson and Vescevo, forwards; Meisel, center, and Decker and Campbell, guards.

Vescevo has been practicing with a football noseguard to protect his nose, which he injured on the gridiron, and he may be forced to wear this protective mask during the game.

Of the reserves, Moreland, forward, and Tate, center, may break into the game. Coach Muhl is priming Tate to take the place of Meisel, star center, who graduated at the end of the present semester.

CHOCOLATE 8-5 FAVORITE TO WIN OVER BATTALINO

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—Just how much right Bat Battalion has to the world's featherweight championship should be settled definitely Friday night when the Hartford boy tackles Kid Chocolate in a 15-round title bout in Madison Square Garden.

Ever since Battalion won the title from Andre Routs there has been a rather general tendency to discount his ring worth. Most experts have regarded Chocolate as the uncrowned featherweight champion, although the Cuban's stock took a sharp drop recently when he accepted a bad beating from Fidel La Barba.

Chocolate started out as a 3 to 1 favorite but the odds have dropped to 8 to 5 and probably won't be greater than 7 to 5 when the battlers enter the ring.

West Point Regulations for Cadets Answer All Talk About Football Eligibility

By James M. Gould

THE stand of West Point in its squabble with Annapolis in regard to football eligibility has been criticized greatly. Now that the Army and Navy eleven will meet in a charity game at New York next Saturday, each service school waiving all contention for this one game, the wish is father to the thought that next year the two schools may meet on the gridiron with all their troubles ironed out.

Apparently, there is a somewhat widespread idea that West Point is a school the main business of which is the gathering of football stars from other colleges. The training of army cadets to be officers, to whom, seems a secondary consideration.

There is nothing farther from the truth. The general plan of living at West Point seems not to be understood. Some writers, without a knowledge of the facts, have given the impression that such college football stars as do enter West Point are helped to get in, helped again to stay in, and, in general, are coddled throughout their four-year terms.

Must Pass Examinations.

HERE are the facts: Every lad, no matter what his college or his scholastic rank therein, must take the entrance examination. And it is an examination. Once within the gates, Mr. College

West Point's eligibility stand is simply this: Every cadet who is there is a bona-fide cadet. There are no "special students." Why, then, is the Army's contention, should such a bona-fide cadet, entitled to full privileges of his rank and station, be shut off from an athletic life just because he has proven good in some sport? There is no desire on the part of the Army to tell the Navy that So-and-So, who was a great halfback at Purdue or Columbia, shall not play as a Middy. The Army has consented—some time ago—to the three-year rule and a Caridoo or a Booth, entering the Academy, would have to wait a full year before he could play varsity football.

Steideman and Maysack Star In Bears' Practice

A 40-minute scrimmage against the Freshmen yesterday confirmed Coach Don White of the Washington Basketball team in his varsity starting selections for the game with the Kansas Aggies Friday night.

The Varsity outscored the first-year men without trouble and the two sophomores who are leading candidates—Steideman and Maysack—displayed such good form that Coach White has played them in the lineup which will start.

The Aggies are conceded very strong. It is a veteran Aggie five with a clever defense and an ability to score from all parts of the court.

The probable lineups for Friday night's game are:

- | WASHINGTON | Position | KANSAS AGGIES | Position |
|------------|----------|---------------|----------------|
| Steideman | Forward | Shufeldt | Shooting Guard |
| Maysack | Center | Yuba | Forward |
| Whitehouse | Guard | Moore | Center |
| Edwards | Guard | Miller | Guard |

Canadiens Take Lead in Hockey Beating Toronto

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—Four National Hockey League clubs have completed the first quarter of their season and for all of them it has been an indication that they will goal and Detroit handing the league-leading Chicago Blackhawks their second defeat of the season, 1 to 0. Goodfellow scored in the last two minutes.

The Canadian division situation is much the same as that in the American half of the league. The New York Americans won only their second game in 11 starts as they defeated Philadelphia. Four ties, however, placed them in a deadlock with the Montreal Maroons, who took a 2 to 1 beating from the Boston Bruins last night. Boston is second in the American group, two points behind Chicago. The Maroons have won four games out of nine. Ottawa, the other Canadian team to complete the first quarter, is a single point ahead of this pair with Les Canadiens of Montreal and the Toronto Leafs.

The Canadiens took their accustomed place at the top last night as they gained a 2-1 victory over Toronto.

$52,114 TAX REFUND ON CITY CLUB'S DUES

Organization Again Proves Contention It Is Civic Rather Than Social.

A stipulation giving the City Club a refund of $52,114.98 on taxes on membership dues for the period of June, 1924, through May, 1928, was filed in Federal Court today by Assistant District Attorney Stettler.

Three years ago the club got judgment against the Government for a refund of similar taxes for 1921-23. In both instances it won its contention that it was a civic rather than a social organization and hence the 500 annual dues should not be subject to the 10 per cent membership tax.

Members turned the refund back to the club for its own use in the first case and club officers plan for the same action again. It is expected a refund will be made hereafter on taxes paid since May, 1928, and that the Government will cease collecting this tax.

It was held the statute of limitations had run on $6061.55 sought refunded for the period of February-May, 1924. For the period of June, 1924, through December, 1925, $20,019.24, or half the amount sought, plus $5633.68 interest, is refunded. For January, 1926, $504.42, half the claim, is to be paid back. A full refund of $20,457.24, plus $4500.40 interest, will be made for the period of February, 1926, through May, 1928.

NEW DENATURANT CAN'T BE REMOVED FROM ALCOHOL

"Alcotest," a Petroleum Extract, to Be Used Instead of Poison, Doran Says.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—A new and unremovable denaturant for industrial alcohol, obtained from California and Mexican petroleum, has been found by the chemists of the Industrial Alcohol Bureau.

Commissioner Doran announced today the substance, called "alcotest," would provide a safe and efficient substitute for the deadly wood alcohol used heretofore. "The alcotest leaves a taste and smell about the same as spoiled eggs and garlic," Doran said. "It is most effective and harmless to the human being. We could not do away with wood alcohol as a denaturant until we found a good substitute which would be effective."

Orders putting the new denaturant into use will be issued within three weeks.

40 PCT. OF BANKS TO RAISE ADVERTISING APPROPRIATIONS

Thrift Club Members Told Indications Point to Leveling Off of Depression.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—Banking representatives told the National Thrift Club members at a luncheon yesterday that gain in financial advertising appropriations for 1931 and reports of $28,485,000,000 in savings banks and trust company deposits indicated that depression in business is leveling off and nearing an end.

Forty per cent of the country's banks, it was disclosed, have decided to enlarge their appropriations for the new year, 40 per cent will retain last year's figures and the others will cut expenditures. An average gain of 22 1/2 per cent is the net result of the budget-making.

THROWN OUT WINDOW TO DEATH

Man Killed in Jefferson City Hotel Fire, Coroner Finds.

By the Associated Press. KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 10.—A

Coroner's jury decided yesterday that Egie Martin, 29 years old, Jefferson City, was thrown from a window to his death here Nov. 24. The fatality occurred when Martin's bed in a hotel was burning. Authorities at the time thought a cigarette ignited the bed, and Martin went to the window and fell to a concrete court below. Two witnesses testified they saw a man appear at the window and see Martin. Martin was employed as a river inspection work at Jefferson City.

Burning Beauty

CHAPTER THIRTY-THREE.

HE was startled out of his reverie by Tony's sudden remark. "I saw Virginia before I went to Florida." "Then she didn't go with Rickey?" "You thought she did?" "Michael said stiffly, 'I haven't her address.' 'I came on her by chance. I'd tell you where, but she bound me to secrecy.' 'I see'—dryly. 'I am telling you the truth, McMillan. Oh I want her badly enough. But I'm not so small as to play the game unfairly. You love her and I love her. They say the best man wins. Well—you've won.' Michael spoke sharply. 'What do you mean?' Tony waited for a moment as he turned the boat in a wide semi-circle toward home, then he said. 'I asked her to marry me. I took her up to Derckdale and showed her all I had to give her. And she told me she didn't love me, that it was you she loved. She's not the kind that changes.' Michael tried to say something, but found he couldn't. Tony was more than ever like a shining knight. Michael thought of the Bronze Knight on the stairs—verite sans peur—truth without fear. Tony had made a splendid gesture. Not every man could have done it.

At last Michael found words: "I shall never forget this, Blackie."

"I've done nothing," Tony said, and meant it. His talk with his father had done things to him. He wanted a wife who loved him. Marriage without that would be dust and ashes.

THE next day Michael began his quest by going again to Washington Square. But again he was baffled. No one knew anything. Neither the landlady or the new tenants. They had the tenants said, rented directly through Mrs. Leonard, they knew nothing of the people who had occupied the rooms. As for Mrs. Leonard, she presented an uncompromising front.

"The young lady had her good reasons for not leaving her address. I ask no questions."

"But you could tell me if you would?"

"I have nothing to tell."

He knew she was evading the issue, and thought of a bribe. But there was about Mrs. Leonard an air of sturdy independence, of simple dignity which held him back from an offer of money.

"It means a great deal to me," he said, still lingering.

Mrs. Leonard was sympathetic. He seemed a nice young man, not in the least the predatory kind which goes forth to devour. And the young lady upstairs was not happy. It was not reasonable that such a beautiful young lady should be alone. And cook with those pretty hands. And write on that noisy machine until her lovely eyes were almost blotted out.

So Mrs. Leonard, a plump agent against a background of the Monday wash, stood with her hand on her hips and said, "There's a game my children play in the parish school. It is called 'Hot and Cold'."

Michael was eager. "I know it."

Mrs. Leonard nodded her head slowly. "It's a good game. I play it this way—with you. I say it is 'warm' when you look for the young lady."

"You mean she is near?"

"I mean nothing," Mrs. Leonard gave him a sidelong look from her fine eyes. "I mean nothing. I have told you nothing. I speak only of my wash—and my spaghetti."

MICHAEL'S laugh was like a boy's. "I'll find her—and you shall dance at our wedding."

"I dance at nothing!"

"But our wedding—Virginia's and mine?"

She spoke in a whisper, "Is it to be that?"

"I can see her long enough to tell her that someone has made trouble."

Mrs. Leonard wrung her hands. "But I have promised—I do not lie."

And not another word could he get out of her.

Yet it was something to know that Virginia was not far away—in the neighborhood, perhaps. He would walk the streets until he met her. Each day he would come and patrol the Square at twilight. That was the hour she usually did her marketing. He remembered she had told him.

Falling that he would write to Rickey. The boy hated him, but there must be some sort of compromise. Michael felt he could do anything, now that he knew of Virginia's love for him. Yet as he stood alone in the hall and looked about him, he was swept by a sense of desolation. It was raining hard outside. He would have to take a taxi. No chance tonight to continue his search. Virginia would not walk the streets in such a storm.

As he leaned against the newel post, the light from the torch of the Bronze Knight shone down on him. The door opened and dreary figures began going up the stairs, but Michael did not move. At last a boy in a slicker came in with a gust of wind and a sprinkle of rain. He threw a twist of sodden paper on the floor and as he went out the door banged after him. The sound echoed and re-echoed in the shadowed space. The empty stairs stretched up and up, three flights to the attic. To Michael standing at the foot of them, they seemed to go on and on, interminably,

PROPER CLOTHES FOR WINTER SPORTS

This is the Regulation Skiing Costume Made of Wool Fleece.

A Suit of White Chamol for Skiing or Skating.

THIS winter sport idea is all very well—lots of fun and everything. But how to keep warm. For you know it's a freezing business, and folks aren't going to have good times with shivers running up and down their spines.

You want to look attractive—the outdoor girl at her prettiest and best, and to this end you must be swathed in the warmest of coverings. Not bulky, mind you, but weather proof.

Everybody's going somewhere to find ice and snow and zero weather—to Maine, to Vermont, to Saranac, to what have you.

What are they wearing?

WHAT do you think? of an entire suit of white chamol? Already you know the advantages in this respect of a chamol jacket—nothing like it for pure warmth and coziness. Well, here is one stylized and complete—the skirt and the jacket made of chamol skin in pure white, the neck and sleeve edges of the jacket being finished in three rows of dark colors to give shape and to hug the throat and wrists warmly.

Wearing this, you practically have a guarantee of being the most warmly dressed woman on the pond. You will find it practical, too, for it cleans with certainty over and over again, while none of its shape or protective quality is lost in the process.

Then there is a chamol sleeveless jacket to wear under coats and over blouses. It is shaped nicely, ending just about at the waistline, where it is fitted in a bit, and on the borders of the armholes, around the neck, and at the bottom there are rows of pinking to give it a finish. A highly desirable and extra smart garment to carry along to any winter climate. No teeth chattering there that is added to other warm layers of clothes.

Both the suit and the extra jacket can be worn on wintry days when golfing at Southern resorts. The color is right for that climate, and the protection of the skin is often the very thing you need.

And while we are on this subject of chamols—have you seen the short chamol pants to be worn under your tweed skirts? Guess you can't get cold in that outfit. The pants are bloomers really and come down to a point above the knees to meet the wool stockings below them.

You can get all these things in suede, but the chamol is easier to handle.

Cleaning Suggestions

YOU can cleanse your georgette or chiffon dress very nicely—just lay it out flat and sprinkle powdered ammonia over it. Roll it up tightly and leave until next day. Then shake gently but thoroughly and hang it in the air, but not in the sun, until wrinkles disappear.

Never use an oiled duster on a gilt or bronze frame. To clean, use a weak solution of ammonia and water and with a cloth moistened in this rub the frame gently. After a few minutes repeat the operation. Do not rub hard and dry by dabbing with a soft cloth.

Scalloped Eggs and Ham.

Six hard-boiled eggs, two cups minced cooked ham, one cup cream sauce, two cups soft breadcrumbs, one-half cup milk. Cover the bottom of a buttered baking dish with one-half cup breadcrumbs, then add in layers eggs, ham, cream sauce, crumbs, until materials are exhausted. Pour in the milk around the edges of the dish and bake in a moderate oven until the crumbs are delicately browned on top. If the top layer is dotted with butter the crumbs will brown prettily.

What to Wear for Skating and Skiing—New Togs Combine Warmth and Style.

By ANN ROBERTS

white are good. You can go on indefinitely once your imagination begins working on the subject.

For skating camels' hair knitted suits are wonderfully attractive. The beret is made of the same material, and then you wear a sheer saphy blouse toned in color to the chosen shade of your suit.

Tumble-down socks, scarfs and berets match sweaters and these are in brilliant colors or in plaids to go with the suit that you happen to be wearing.

TROUSERS for snowshoeing and skiing must be long and fitted at the ankles so that they can tuck under the shoes and the extra tumble-down socks. They are made of knitted stuffs or fleece—preferably the latter because it is so clinging and slenderizing and warm and altogether satisfactory. They must be as trim and sleek as is otherwise possible, and this means good tailoring—well thought out styling.

There is a jacket to be slipped over the head or buttoned straight down the front. It ends at the waistline, fitted in there and tight to hug the figure and add to the trim appearance of the whole.

Now this suit can be all in one bright color, if you wish, or it may be very much varied by using dark trousers and a bright colored top or vice versa. One suit has white pants with a plaid knitted coat. Worn with a white beret and white mittens it is very good looking, too.

SHAPERELETT'S idea of these lightest weight, sleeveless sweaters, one worn on top of the other, is still excellent style. You can have a lot of fun with the combinations of colors as well as a lot of comfort in wearing them—one, two or three, according to the temperature registered for the day. A yellow, a green and a purple make an interesting assemblage. Paler colors of pink, blue and

DAILY STORY FOR CHILDREN

By Mary Graham Bonner.

The Shepherds' Singing

THE Little Black Clock took John and Peggy to Italy and through Sicily. He had turned the time back a number of years.

Now the shepherds were coming down through the glens of the mountain passes and were playing on their clear sylvan pipes.

Some men joined the others and played on their violins and cellos, while through the villages and glens and the mountain passes and slopes the beautiful music sounded gloriously.

John heard some one playing a guitar, too, and Peggy saw another person shaking a tambourine. Then the Little Black Clock showed them babies who were being rocked more at this time of the year than at any other because they were to have Christmas treats, too.

They got out of their sleigh at times and walked. From some of the mountain passes they looked down on villages with their twinkling lights, all waiting for Santa Claus to come.

"Don't you think Christmas is a very exciting time of the year?" Peggy asked the Little Black Clock.

"I do," the Little Black Clock agreed. "I think that even the air is filled with an excitement around Christmas time."

"I hope Santa brings me a train and a set of signals," John said.

"I hope he brings me a carriage for my doll and a little set of dishes," Peggy said.

"Have you written and told him so?" the Little Black Clock asked.

"Oh yes," said Peggy, and John said the same.

"Then I'm pretty sure he will," the Little Black Clock said. "I've been around a good long time, and I've noticed that he brings just what most everyone as he possibly can and he pays great attention to the letters telling him what the children want."

"They were on their way home now," asked John.

"Where are we going tomorrow night?" asked John.

"We're going to see the reindeer having their supper," the Little Black Clock said.

"Goodie!" cried Peggy.

HEALTH

Brief articles prepared by experts Edited by Dr. Lago Goldston, for the New York Academy of Medicine.

Blood Pressure.

IN determining blood pressure a rubber sleeve is placed about the arm at the level of the heart—this point being chosen for its convenience. Connected with this sleeve is a pressure gauge and a little pump.

The pressure of the air introduced into the sleeve is measured by means of the gauge, or by means of a column of mercury enclosed in a U-shaped tube. The stethoscope, the instrument the physician uses to listen to the sounds in the body, is applied over the artery to be compressed.

As the air is pumped into the sleeve it presses against the artery, and at a certain point the pressure in the rubber sleeve will be just slightly greater than the pressure of the blood in the artery. At this point the pulse at the point of pressure will disappear and with the thumping which is heard through the stethoscope.

The gauge, or the column of mercury, is then read, and the figure so secured is a measure of systolic blood pressure. This is the maximum blood pressure representing the constant pressure in which the blood is subjected in the circulatory system, plus the pressure of the contraction of the heart.

Now the air is allowed to gradually escape from the rubber sleeve so that the pressure within becomes less. As long, however, as the air pressure in the sleeve is less than the maximum pressure, but more than the constant pressure a thump will be heard through the stethoscope at every pulse beat.

This thumping disappears at a time when the air pressure in the rubber sleeve is equal to the constant pressure in the circulatory system.

At this point a second reading is made, and this represents the diastolic pressure, or, as we call it, constant pressure. The difference between the two readings, as must be evident, represents the force with which the heart contracts.

The education building at the University of Texas soon is to be named Sutton hall in honor of William S. Sutton, Texas educator.

CHAPTER

BEHIND the gold and red strip was thinking how handsome a doorway. Although the thought of disturbing excitement, it was quite she had within her reach the one her career complete.

If she married him she would she would have in his world a place have. In the back of her mind a place had come a long way. Mary

For she knew that he meant to ask her to marry him and she had known it ever since he had said to her, looking at her with his blue eyes shining, "Does it make a difference then if I am there?"

And she thought how lucky it was that the man who asked to make her wealthy and give her a position should also be so handsome and attractive. It was true, she told herself, that he was not brilliant or amusing but one couldn't expect everything.

AND while Octavia slipped her dress over her head she began to dress herself the role of a woman who was passionately in love—a pure woman to whom love would be an awakening and the exploring of a new land, and she began to say to herself, "I had never been original but, which really came out of her memories of novels."

By the time she had fixed the wave in her shining black hair, powdered her pretty nose and slipped on her hat, she was quite in love with him.

She parted the curtains and stood before him, slender and swaying a little, her lips parted with a tender smile. "I'm ready, Philip! I don't want to eat in a restaurant so I had Octavia fix up a little supper in my flat. We'll be alone there. You don't mind, do you?"

Mind? His heart leapt. It was perfect now. He would have her alone. He could tell her how much he loved her, and there would be no one there to share her with him even by looking at her.

She lived in a flat on the third floor of a remodeled brownstone house in the East Fifties. There was no doorman and no elevator man, and they let themselves in with a key.

It was a modest flat for an actress so well-known and one who was always certain of an engagement, but Janie was comfortable in it and it allowed her to lay by at least half of what she earned.

HE did not waste her money in extravagant living, and things were given her by admirers who got for their pains little more than the dubious pleasure of giving her presents. Friends invested her money for her, so that what she referred to with a toss of her head as her "little nest egg" was constantly hatching into other nest eggs.

And now that she was marrying Philip, who was himself a stock broker, he could manage all her investments and she wouldn't need any longer to be under the least obligation to anyone.

Standing close to her as they ascended heavenward in the little elevator, Philip felt suddenly overwhelmed with a desire to kiss her but checked himself for fear that she might not like it and so he put it off until the next morning when he meant to propose to her.

There was no one in the flat but even the Negro servants went home to Harlem in the evening, but in the sitting-room before the fire there was a table spread with cold chicken and ham, sandwiches, and an electric coffee machine.

It was a small cozy room furnished with low comfortable chairs and adorned with photographs and drawings of Janie in various poses and roles, all oddly alike, showing her chin thrust forward to show the swanlike line of her throat. Women admirers and young girls had told her that in this pose she looked exactly like "Duse."

WITH a boyish gesture she pulled off her hat and threw it and her coat on the divan, looking back her head with a freedom which said, "Now I am free. I am a woman, no longer a actress chained to my art."

And almost at once she began to enact the role of a young housewife who adored cooking.

He still watched her, too fascinated by her charm and vivacity to speak, so she pulled his coat from his shoulders and said, "Come along, we'll scramble some eggs for the kitchen."

He looked at her in sudden astonishment.

"But aren't you tired... after a night... a first night?"

She laughed and tossed her dark curls.

"I'm never tired unless things

New Paris Lingerie
Hikes the Waistline

NAPOLEON'S Josephine might have worn some of the lingerie that Paris is putting forth for modest moderns.

Empire undies are the last word uttered in the frivolous quarter which decides about lingerie. Empire means waistlines shoved up under the armpits in the place where women were in Napoleon's time. Therefore empire undies have to be worn under dresses with empire waistline or worn by themselves.

Most women prefer the latter system, meaning nightgowns which are belted or otherwise confined at a point six to 12 inches above the normal waistline.

There is a bewildering array of empire nightgowns to choose from. One of the newest efforts is a crepe de chine gown in pastel candy stripe. Washable ribbons of the same colors as the stripes form the belt.

Plain satin slips, long enough to touch the ground all around and trail a little in back, have elaborate lace incrustations around the top and narrow belts tied just under the bust.

NEW YORK BANK
OF $254,000,000
BRANCHES, SHUT

"Bank of United States," One of City's Newer Organizations Doing Business With Garment Trade, Suspends.

POLICE CALLED OUT TO HANDLE CROWD

Officials Take Charge After Withdrawals—Clearing House Undertakes to Relieve Any Distress Among Customers.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Notices at the State Banking Department had taken charge were posted at the main office and several of the branches of the Bank of United States, one of the city's newer banking organizations, before opening time this morning. This action followed a flurry of withdrawals late yesterday and a series of conferences at the Federal Reserve Bank.

The closed bank has no connection with the Government, despite its name, but because of its name, bankers were anxious to forestall any nervousness. The bank obtained its State charter, giving the title of Bank of United States when it started with a branch on lower East Side in 1913. Present laws would prevent the giving of such a title to any new bank.

Formal Announcement Made.
A formal announcement said at negotiations with the city's clearing financial interests for the purpose of a merger or reorganization ended without result this morning and that the bank's directors had passed a resolution requesting the department to take charge.

The resolution stated the department had been called on because it was felt that further withdrawals might result in disorders, and it was desired that all depositors be treated equally and the assets preserved for their benefit. It included that the action had been taken "with the hope that a speedy and satisfactory reorganization can be effected, the bank reopened, and the moneys due to depositors paid at the earliest possible date." State Superintendent of Banks Frederick announced that, although the bank was not a member of the New York Clearing House, the Clearing House banks had arranged to relieve any distress among depositors. A group of these banks has offered to make loans against the net claims of the depositors to the extent of 50 per cent of such claims, properly substantiated.

Specialized in Small Deposits.
The bank, while specializing in small deposits, and serving primarily the garment manufacturing trade, had expanded rapidly, opening a total of 59 branches in various parts of the city. It is not identified with Wall Street, maintaining only a branch in the financial district.

On the basis of its latest statement as of Sept. 24, the bank had total resources of $254,043,942, and deposits of $202,972,469. It is understood that deposits had been considerably reduced since that time.

The bank had capital of $25,000,000 and surplus and undivided profits of $17,188,378. Its depositors numbered 400,000. There were about 22,000 stockholders.

The bank's officers include C. Stanley Mitchell, chairman; Howard K. Marcus, president; Saul Karger, chairman of the executive committee, and Simon H. Kugel, vice chairman.

The bankers' conference was attended by acting Governor Herbert H. Lehman. Among those attending were Thomas W. Lamont of J. P. Morgan & Co.; Albert H. Wiggin, head of the Chase National Bank; George L. Harrison, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York; Owen D. Young, deputy chairman of the Federal Reserve Board; Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the board of the National City Bank; and Jackson E. Reynolds, president of the First National Bank.

Police Reserves Called Out.
Thousands of depositors lined up last evening at eight branches of the Bank of United States in the Bronx, Brooklyn and Upper Manhattan and demanded their funds. Police reserves were called out to
